Men Stopped at Tus-tin After Speedy Chase

PAST WORK on the part of deputy sheriffs, together with Vernon Barnhill, former state officer, last night resulted in the arrest of an asserted hit-and-run driver and his companion, as they sped north after an automobile crash at Oceanside in which three persons were reported today as being in a dying condition and a fourth seriously hurt.

The men arrested gave their names as Daniel Lohmes, 48, owner of the Los Angeles Lime company, residing at 450 South Almond drive, Beverly Hills, and Leo Bohmer, 23, truck driver, of 194 East Eighteenth street, Los Angeles. Both were booked at the county jail on charges of failure to stop and render aid after an automobile accident.

This morning they were turned over to Oceanside police officers, who returned them to the San Diego county city.

The injured persons, all of Los Angeles, and all of whom are now in the San Clemente hospital, are Mrs. Chris Olson, 45, who suffered a broken leg, severe cuts and a head injury; Chris Olson, possible skull fracture and severe bruises; Mrs. Jennie Rasmussen, 56, crushed chest, sprained ankle, several broken ribs, and Justin Olson, possible skull fracture.

Hospital attendants at the San Clemente hospital stated this morning that the conditions of Mr. and Mrs. Olson and Mrs. Rasmussen were extremely critical.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF CHARLES BOB

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Fears for the safety of Charles V. Bob,
New York capitalist for whom Richard E. Byrd named a range of mountains near the South Pole, grew today as the mystery of his disappearance deepened with each passing hour.

Friends of Bob both here and in New York feared the capitalist, who was carrying considerable money when last seen, might have been kidnapped by bandits or that racketeers, knowing of his wealth, were holding him for ransom.

The financier came here from New York last Wednesday in his Bellanca monoplane, landed at Municipal airport and instructed mechanics to have the plane ready for a return flight on Thursday.
That evening, according to New York dispatches, he telephoned his family he would return at once and he left his pilot, Col. Dean Lamb, left the Blackstone hotel a short time later. Neither has been seen since.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Calvin Coolidge
Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 13.—Since 1492 October, twelfth has properly been Columbus Day. But only of late it has been generally celebrated as a holiday. Such observance rests on a secure foundation.
Measured by its effect on all following history the voyage of Columbus, ending in the discovery of a new hemisphere, was an achievement of the first magnitude. Possibly others preceded him, but he was the first who made known the existence of America to European civilization. He is entitled to rank forever as the greatest of all explorers. But the glory of his exploit, great as it was, becomes almost important when compared with its results. It marked the inception of the modern era.
The minds of men were opened to new thoughts. The gold and silver of America gave a new trend to the life of Europe. The arts began to flourish. The people began to assert their rights. More colonies brought more trade.
A new age appeared, great in captains, admirals, statesmen, poets and philosophers, and finally new nations dedicated to human freedom arose on this side of the Atlantic. These are partly the reasons why Christopher Columbus is entitled to be honored.

ARREST 17,070 IN QUARTER ON BOOZE CHARGES

Woodcock Tells of Federal Agents' Work In Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(UP)— Arrests on charges of violating the federal prohibition law during the first quarter of this fiscal year averaged about 188 a day, for a total of 17,070, and fines of three quarters of a million dollars were collected, it was revealed today in Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock's monthly progress report.

If this rate of arrests is maintained for the remainder of the year, about 65,000 persons will have been arrested by the federal dry forces. In 1929 about 66,000 were arrested.

As a result either of jury trials or guilty pleas, the government won convictions in 7,101 of cases tried in the quarter while acquittals resulted in only 1,116. Unfinished dry law cases on the court dockets numbered 24,533 at the end of the quarter.

Fines collected in the quarter from those convicted total $775, 485, while $65,880 days were meted out in sentences to prohibition law offenders.

Seizures of automobiles numbered 1978 in the quarter—July, August and September—while 5, 515 stills were taken in raids. Beer fermenters seized total 41,627.

Spirits seized by the raiding federal officers amounted to 282,274 gallons and 3,010,762 gallons of beer were obtained. Permanent padlocks granted by federal courts totaled 1028 in all parts of the nation.

Damage amounting to $700 was done when an automobile, said to have been driven by a woman, and owned by Maurice Phillips, well known Santa Ana singer, jumped the curb and crashed into a meat counter at Chestnut and Main streets yesterday.
The refrigerator plant at the place was broken and the show case severely damaged.
According to witnesses, the woman was taking driving lessons and when she stopped the car she failed to put the car out of gear.
It jumped over the sidewalk and crashed into the meat counter.
Phillips was an occupant of the car at the time.

RIOTS IN HEART OF BERLIN MARK OPENING OF REICHSTAG

Drive Back Rebels In Argentina

Defeat For Revolutionists Is Reported on Two Fronts

BY C. A. POWELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 13.—
(UP)—Rebels converging on Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro from the north and south have been driven back on both fronts, the ministry of justice said in a communique today.

Revolutionary forces that had reached the frontier of the state of Rio de Janeiro were repulsed into Minas Geraes, the communique said, and federal troops routed rebels at Bibeira, in the state of Para-na, inflicting heavy losses.

Government troops entered Minas Geraes from the state of Sao Paulo and captured Jagura bridge, an important point of communication with central Brazil. The communique said that federal forces were in direct communication with Juiz de Fornas and Bicas, in Minas Geraes.
While the highway had been opened between Pouso Alegre and Itajuba, where numerous government troops were concentrated.

Sao Paulo militia continued to enter Minas Geraes as government troops pushed northward toward Bello Horizonte, capital of Minas Geraes, from which rebels planned to attack the federal capital. The government reported the capture of numerous rebels at Guazupe and Guaranesia.

Federal troops were reported as ready to advance from Florianopolis northward against the rebels in Santa Catharina and Parana.

The southern section of Minas Geraes, especially important because it borders on the states of Rio de Janeiro, Espirito Santo, and Sao Paulo, appeared dominated by federal troops. The government was in control of Pouso Alegre, Ouro Fino and Har de Espana, all within striking distance of Sao Paulo and the federal capital.

Richard M. Cannon, in a statement issued here today through his father, Bishop James Cannon jr., declared he had issued no checks which he did not believe were covered in the banks at the time they were issued.

He said he would return to Los Angeles to face charges against him and would answer them "at the proper time and place."

The bishop's son denied there was any mystery about his whereabouts and said he had come to Washington to confer with the father. Cannon was charged with passing $1000 in worthless checks in warrants held by deputy sheriffs today at Los Angeles.

Young Cannon allegedly issued the checks for labor and supplies at El Monte Military academy, in which he has a large interest.
Nellie Bennett, said to be an aunt of Cannon, also was accused.

The statement follows:
"I left California to come to on some exceedingly important matters. There was no mystery connected with my going away or my whereabouts.

"As to the charges which the

Actress Sorry Bullets Missed Husband's Heart

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Oct. 13.— (UP)—L. R. Shaffer, 31, was in a critical condition in the hospital here today from a bullet wound in his shoulder, while his wife, formerly Dolores Duncan, film actress, continued to tell investigators she was "only sorry I didn't hit him in the heart." Sheriff N. J. McCoy admitted there was little likelihood of an arrest, as Shaffer, in a bedside statement, positively refused to issue a complaint against his wife. Shaffer had driven 19 miles to Marysville with the pistol wound in his body, the bullet having split in two parts, lodging in his neck and back.
The shooting occurred at the Loma Rica ranch of Shaffer, who is known to officers as a prohibition law violator, having recently served a 60-day sentence for possession of liquor.
After receiving hospital treatment, Shaffer's injury was reported by surgeons to the sheriff, who went to the bedside and took a statement. The sheriff then interviewed Mrs. Shaffer who admitted shooting her husband after he had beaten her, thrown her down and was choking her.

Crowds Rush Toward Door Of Chamber

Government Wins Initial Contest With Big Vote

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—(UP)—The opening session of the new reichstag today was accompanied by Fascist demonstrations in the 'chamber and rioting in the heart of the capital, where police clashed with demonstrators.

After half a dozen minor disorders outside the reichstag, police chased demonstrators to the nearby Potsdamerplatz, where fighting continued. The windows of the big Wertheim department store, near Potsdamerplatz, and of other shops and cafes were smashed.
Neighboring stores put up iron shutters as police reinforcements were rushed to the scene to halt the disorders.

While the government of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning was given a fore-taste of the violent future attacks of Fascists and Communists in the chamber, heavy police guards were vigorously swinging truncheons outside to halt disorders and hold back thousands of persons who attempted to gain entrance to the most tense session of the reichstag in many years.

Fascist party members and deputies—raised to second in rank in Germany by the recent election —demonstrated both inside the chamber and in the streets, shouting "Hail Hitler!" the war cry of the extremists party led by Adolph Hitler. Fighting in the streets started just before the reichstag convened and continued at intervals during the session, but the strong police concentrations prevented a serious outbreak near the parliament. About a score of persons, most of them Fascists,
were arrested.

The opening session of the Reichstag started tumultuously when the Fascists, clad in the brown shirt uniforms which are against the reichstag rules, entered while the packed galleries waited tensely.
There were several violent interruptions by Fascists and Communists during the organizing session, but the chamber was calm when the deputies recessed after defeating a Communist motion against the government by overwhelming rising vote.

The motion demanded that the reichstag reconvene tomorrow to consider motions of misconfi-dence in the cabinet, of refusal to pay reparations and for rescinding of the dictatorial decrees issued by President Paul von Hindenburg in July, under which Chancellor Heinrich Brüning dissolved parliament to carry on his financial program.

Rioting and last-minute shifts in the government alignment which threatened the immediate defeat of the cabinet and Chancellor Heinrich Brüning today marked the first day of the new reichstag.

PROTECT NEGROES FROM MOB ACTION

HILLSBORO, Mo., Oct. 13.—(UP)—
Two Negro men and their woman companion were held in jail here today to prevent possible mob violence after they confessed to shooting one man to death and throwing another into the Mississippi river after seriously wounding him near St. Genevieve, Mo., yesterday.

J. B. Lee, Guy Taylor and Vera Rokers, all Negroes, were arrested and later confessed to shooting Harry Panchot, 48, St. Genevieve, to death and seriously wounding his companion Peter Ritter. The Negroes threw Ritter into the river and then hurled rocks at him when he attempted to swim to shore.

The Negroes were taken to the jail in St. Genevieve but were removed here for safe keeping when a mob formed.
Ritter had given the Negroes a ride in his automobile. Both Ritter and Panchot were robbed before they were shot.

Reduction In Gas Price Expected Here

Here's good news for Santa Ana motorists.
A general gasoline price war in this city looms today with decision of some service station operators to make a three cent cut in the price of gasoline and thus approach the prices which have been placed in effect by certain independent dealers.
Prices at some stations during the last week have been lowered to 17 1-2 cents and in some instances to 16-2-3 cents per gallon, and station operators where the standard price of 20 1-2 cents is maintained have been generally feeling the effects in reduced quantities of motor fuel pumped from their tanks.
The reduction in price was momentarily expected to be put into effect at noon today, it was rumored among gas station operators.

GIRL FAILS TO TELL WHO SHOT JACK DIAMOND

Gangster Fights For Life and Refuses to Talk

By HARRY FERGUSON
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The vitality that has carried Jack (Legs) Diamond through hazardous life of the underworld came to his aid today as he lay near death in Polytechnic hospital with four gangster bullets in his body.

His condition was reported slightly improved, but he still was unable or unwilling to answer questions.
So just before noon police led Mar-lain Roberts, a titan-haired showgirl, into a private room at police headquarters and sought to learn from her how and why Diamond was shot yesterday as he sat in his red pajamas on a bed at the Hotel Monticello, sipping orange juice.

The girl, beautiful as all Ziegfeld girls must be, whimpered just as she did yesterday when police hauled her out of a clothes closet in the apartment of Agnes O'Laughlin, a chorus girl friend who recently threatened to sue Rudy Vallee for $100,000 on a breach of promise charge.

"All my life I've been a good girl," Miss Roberts sobbed. "Jack was my first sweetheart."
She sketched her life briefly for police, told them she was 19 years old and described how she came from upstate New York and climbed into Ziegfeld chorus in "Whoo-pee" at an age when most girls are still in high school.

Miss Roberts admitted she had been living in an adjacent room to the one Diamond occupied at the Hotel Monticello, and once more she blurted out the story of how she was drawing a bath when two men called to see Diamond. Jack took them to the next room—his own—and then she said she heard him pleading for mercy. Shots followed and she dressed hastily and fled to Miss O'Laughlin's apartment.

Police hammered at her story.
Why, they wanted to know, had she made a telephone call to New Jersey Saturday night. They were seeking to develop the theory that New Jersey gangsters invaded Diamond's hotel and shot him because of a beer gang quarrel. She refused to answer.

Meanwhile police lines were drawn around the Polytechnic hospital. Detectives were alert to see that no one penetrated to Diamond's room.

MAL DAUGHERTY IS INDICTED BY JURY

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE,
O., Oct. 13.—(UP)—Mal S. Daugherty, president of the defunct Ohio State bank here and brother of former Attorney General Harry M.
Daugherty, was indicted by the Fayette county grand jury late today on charges of embezzlement and misappropriation.
Shortly after the indictments were announced Daugherty was arrested and taken to the sheriff's office to await trial.
Bond was fixed at $40,000. It was said the total amount involved in the alleged misappropriations was between $30,000 and $40,000, and that the bond was set to cover the maximum.

ARIZONA TO PROTEST IN HIGH COURT

Asks Injunction to Prevent Wilbur and Interested States From Proceeding

COMPACT IS ATTACKED

Refusal to Withhold Funds Precedes Permission to File Supreme Court Suit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(UP)—
Arizona today was granted permission to file its suit in the supreme court to restrain its neighboring state and interior secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur from proceeding with the Boulder Dam work.

The court directed the issuance of service returnable January 5, 1931.
Just previously Secretary of Interior Wilbur announced the comptroller general had declined the request of Arizona to withhold funds appropriated for construction of the dam. Arizona contended contracts for power to be generated at the dam were illegal.

The hearing of the Arizona suit by the United States supreme court will not delay or interrupt plans now being made by the Metropolitan Water district of Southern California for the development of a domestic water supply from the Colorado river. W. P. Whitsett, chairman of the district board of directors, said today.

"Preparations for the selection of the best possible route for an aqueduct to bring the Colorado river water to the cities in the Metropolitan water district are being rapidly completed," said Whitsett.
"It is expected that the selection of the most economical and practicable route will have been made before the close of the year."

"The filing of the Arizona suit which attacks the constitutionality of the Boulder dam act, will not serve to delay or interrupt the Metropolitan water district's preparations."

Authority to file the suit was asked on the opening day of court last week by Attorney General K.
Berry Peterson of Phoenix.

Arizona asks a permanent injunction preventing further activity on the power and irrigation project. It charges state sovereignty was being invaded and that it was being robbed of its natural resources.

The complaint attacked both the Santa Fe compact entered into by sister states which provided for the apportionment of the waters on the Colorado river and the Swing-Johnson bill, which authorized the work.
The former is unjust in its distribution of water in the lower basin, in which Arizona lies, and in withdrawing appropriated water now subject to appropriation by Arizona, the state charges.

"Construction of the 522-foot dam at the Black canyon, dedicated September 17, as the Hoover dam, will proceed with all possible expedition," Wilbur declared.
Construction of the railroad which will convey supplies to the dam site is already under way, and specification for the diversion tunnel and the dam itself are in the course of preparation by the bureau of reclamation.

Wilbur said the comptroller general's decision had been communicated to Attorney General Peterson of Arizona.

"In specific answers to the questions submitted," McCarl said in his decision, "I have to advise that there appears to be nothing presented by the state of Arizona, requiring or justifying a holding by this office that the appropriation made for the specific purpose for

Four Drivers Placed In Jail On Liquor Charges

FAILURE TO RENDER AID IS CHARGED

Rasmussen's condition was reported serious, but it was intimated that he would recover. All details concerning the accident had not been received here today. The car in which Lohmes and Bohmer were said to have been riding was reported to have been swerving the Olson machine, causing it to overturn at the side of the road, pinning its occupants under the wreckage. The other car was reported to have failed to stop after the crash.

Another motorist is said to have followed the Lohmes machines to San Juan Capistrano, where he reported he did not see a police officer, so he followed them to Tustin, where they were arrested.

In the meantime, telephone calls informed the sheriff's office that the car was headed this way, and

$16 In Cash, Two Checks Taken By Burglar In Orange

A burglar who effected entrance into the establishment of the Uneda Cleaners at 119 West Chapman avenue in Orange Saturday evening while the proprietor, William Loscher, was at supper, secured $16 in cash and two checks from the cash register. Entrance was gained by manipulating the hook on the screen door at the rear entrance. The crime was committed between 6:10 and 6:35 p. m.

Police officers Homer Davis and Al Wunderlich are conducting the investigation of the case. Footprints found in the mud at the rear of the store were the only clues that have been reported by the officers.

THEY'RE EVERYWHERE

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Airports are springing up in every country in the world. In the mountainous countries as well as level nations. In the Swiss mountains Switzerland is operating six lines from its various airports.

Deputy Sheriffs Howard and Buckles, together with former officer Barnhill, rushed out on the state highway, where they met the car coming from the south.

MACHINE HITS HOUSE AFTER JUMPING CURB

Bootleg liquor made peculiar drivers of four motorists arrested over the week end by both city and county officers. All four figured in sensational accidents, but none of the four was injured, according to reports. The four were today in the Orange county jail, charged with driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor.

B. W. Pickett, 56, bookkeeper of Irvine, was arrested at the doorstep of Dr. J. L. Maroon's home at 510 East Seventeenth street at 6:20 o'clock last night after he had driven his car into Dr. Maroon's house.

According to officers Jensen, Lutz and Nicholson, the Pickett machine first crashed into a parked coupe, owned by W. F. Robb, and then ran across the street, jumped the curb and over the Maroon yard, stopping when it hit the building.

The car barely missed a huge tree in the lawn, according to Sergeant Frank Lutz.

W. J. Ordway, 55, a musician, who lives at 421 East Seventeenth street, was arrested in the front lawn of the home of Mrs. M. E. Head at 530 East Sixth street, after his automobile is said to have jumped the curb and stopped just short of the house.

The arrest was made by Officers Dean and Perry late yesterday afternoon, soon after the accident.

Ames E. Nelson, 24, of Brandon, South Dakota, was charged with driving an automobile while drunk and his companion was charged with being drunk, when state officers stopped their car at The Archers yesterday afternoon.

The Nelson car was said to be running over machines off the road. Both men were still in the county jail here today.

Following an accident near San Juan Capistrano yesterday in which a woman was hurt, Carmen Abila, 37, of San Juan Capistrano, was arrested on a driving drunk charge and lodged in the county jail by state officers.

His new car was said to have been almost completely wrecked in the crash with a car reported to have been driven by Mrs. Bertha Lynch, of San Diego. Abila was not hurt, however.

According to Capt. Henry Meehan of the state police, Abila was on probation from a similar charge, having been in an accident several weeks ago in which his car was demolished.

hile accident at El Modena. The accident occurred about midnight, it was reported.

Badly cut and bruised, Hugh Horton, 32, of Redlands, was discharged from the county hospital this morning after spending the night there. He was brought to the hospital early last evening after an automobile accident which has not been reported to police. Horton suffered scalp wounds and cuts about the knees, it was reported.

Miss Dorothy Abbott, of Placentia, president of the Orange County Christian Endeavor union, escaped serious injury Saturday evening when driving on Glassell street, Santa Ana. In passing another car, she ran off the road into heavy sand and her car turned over.

The car was demolished but Miss Abbott escaped with bruises and a cut on one arm.

The Economic party withdrew its member, Minister of Justice Johann Brecht, from the cabinet, causing danger of an immediate government crisis.

Fascists and police crashed in front of the Reichstag just prior to the opening of the first session.

The new Reichstag, expected to be the most critical in history of the republic, convened at 8:10 p. m.

With the threat of dictatorial action by the cabinet still dominating the Reichstag if it opposes the government's financial reform plan, the opening of parliament caused considerable tension in the capital.

Several arrests were made when police fought with Fascist party members, who have the second largest representation in the Reichstag.

Both Fascists and nationals have announced their ruthless opposition to the government, while various conservative factions of the right wing have been wavering in support of the cabinet. The withdrawal of the Economic party, with 23 members, was considered a serious blow to Brüning.

While police and Fascist demonstrators battled outside, there were outbursts of pandemonium in the chamber. A Communist deputy shouted: "Police are beating the workers outside—that is how you open the Reichstag." A Fascist crowd like a cock, ridiculing the Communists.

After the roll call the Communist deputies shouted their battle cry "Red Front!" repeating three times. When Chancellor Brüning's name was mentioned the Communists shouted: "Starvation dictator!"

Cat calls and hisses greeted the Fascists and there was continual disputing and bitter antagonism between the radical factions. The most serious blow to the government was believed to be the economic party order for its cabinet member, Minister of Justice Johann Brecht, to resign from the government. The party also demanded formation of a cabinet of experts to meet the present political crisis.

Minister of Justice Johann Brecht, who had been asked by his economic party to resign from the cabinet, refrained from doing so on the request of President Von Hindenburg, who urged him to remain in office.

Meanwhile, with the middle parties wavering in their support of the cabinet, which must count on the Socialist party for its life, the Fascists started an effort to drive a wedge between the cabinet and the Socialist party by electing the Volks party leader, Ernest Scholz, as speaker of the Reichstag.

The Socialist, Paul Loebe, former speaker, is entitled by tradition to represent the strongest party in the chair but the Fascist leaders met in secret at the Rheinhold restaurant here today after the arrival of Hitler, and decided to attempt to elect Scholz in an effort to alienate the Socialist party from the cabinet, in which it is not represented. The meeting also was for the purpose of perfecting 11th hour plans of the party.

Another pre-Reichstag event was the customary meeting of President Von Hindenburg and members of the cabinet, to attend church service.

construction of the dam and incidental work in connection with the Boulder canyon project act is not available for that purpose.

"Therefore, no action will be taken to withhold approval for withdrawal of funds for such purpose." Arizona, through Attorney General Peterson, had objected that the contracts executed by the interior department for the sale of power to the city of Los Angeles, the Metropolitan water district of Southern California, and the Southern California Edison company were invalid because of the alleged inability of the city and the Metropolitan district to make the contract.

McCall, in overruling these objections, called attention to the fact that the same argument had been presented to the attorney general of the United States, who had ruled favorably on the validity of the contract, and to the committees of congress which recommended the original appropriations, based on these contracts.

The attorney general of Arizona last week appealed the case to the United States supreme court, naming Secretary Wilbur, California, and the other states comprising the Colorado river drainage basin as defendants.

Under the power contract protested by Arizona 663,000 primary horsepower will be taken and paid for each year by the three contractors, with the secretary of the interior reserving the right to reallocate 36 per cent of this power to the states of Arizona and Nevada whenever they demand it, and six per cent to the 11 smaller municipalities of Southern California.

Arizona's objection is based mainly on its contention that the state has been neglected in the distribution of the power. Arizona's senators and congressmen fought the Boulder dam bill all through congress and the appealing of the case to the supreme court represents the state's last chance to prevent construction of the dam.

room and finished the job that the two men who shot him yesterday may have bungled. They also thought underworld characters, from whom information could be gained, might seek to call on the gangster. Yesterday someone thrust a handful of bills into a nurse's hand at the hospital. Inside the $1,000 was a note asking that "Jack be given the best possible medical care."

Reports persisted that Miss Roberts had identified two faces in the Rogue's Gallery as Diamond's assassins, but the rumor conflicted with her statement that she was taking a bath when the men called and hence could not possibly have seen them.

From Diamond, detectives got the same meager information that they have acquired every time they arrested him. On his cot he twisted his mouth into its familiarly half-grin and muttered:

"They were too fast for me. There were four of them and I never saw them before."

All other persons have said only two men halted their automobile outside the hotel and entered to shoot Diamond. The assault on Diamond aroused an interest here which was exceeded only by the murder two years ago of Arnold Rothstein, or before he, too, found ways to make money out of need-beer and slot machines. The two shootings, it was pointed out, were remarkably similar. Rothstein also was shot while in a hotel, and he, too, lay in Polytechnic hospital refusing to identify his assailants.

Diamond had bulked large in the news of late. His spectacular trip to Europe where he was barred from Belgium and deported from Germany made him known internationally.

BEHAVIORISM SUNDAY TOPIC OF DR. WARMER

A scholarly discussion of behaviorism as opposed to religion was presented Sunday morning in the sermon preached by Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, on the subject, "Behaviorism, What of It?"

"One day in the midst of an informal discussion," Dr. Warner commenced, "Jesus dropped these words as a guide to life, 'He who willeth to do shall know of the doctrine.' It is the gospel of learning by doing. This gospel is the central theme of the behaviorist. His psychology takes persons as things and studies their reaction to stimulus."

"Behaviorism wisely magnifies the power of environment as a life builder. The conviction can never be too deep that the privileged portion of society cannot leave the under-privileged portion in slums and foul surroundings without endangering the whole social fabric."

"Then Behaviorism holds that the organism, which we are, is active. The stimulus response situation reveals that we are capable of being moulded and of developing more highly organized activities."

"Again, Behaviorism views life as a whole. This type of psychology emphasizes social experience. Since a great deal of our environment is made up of other organisms, our response is to them, as well as to the other elements in our surroundings. This is where behaviorism has profoundly influenced education and greatly affected sociology. "But behaviorism has certain serious defects. It holds that all are equal. That the common level of life could be maintained by a stimulus. Character is not altogether formed from without. Interpretation of experience is just as necessary as participation in the event. The subjective is as vital as the objective. Meditation is as necessary as activity."

"The behaviorist holds that the behavior of animals and the behavior of men must be considered on the same plane. What can be observed can be known. Both animals and men respond to environment. Their response makes them what they are. By response this school means anything done in a given situation—turning toward or away from a light, jumping at a sound, drawing plans, building a skyscraper, having babies, writing books, etc."

"Everyday experiences come to us showing the fallacy here. Mental states affect the digestion, blood circulation and breathing. The body often occasions mental states. A corn and a new pair of shoes have ruined many a peaceful experience. A healthy body makes for a happy carefree mind. Some human behavior is conditioned by the action of the glands. "Behaviorism side-steps the fact of human consciousness as a major factor in life building. It has no solution of the passing of sensation into consciousness. That there is some mystery in the transition from brain excitation to consciousness, no one will deny. But it is better to face some mystery than to accept an absurdity. To deny consciousness, to get rid of soul, does not get one out of the dilemma. If there is no consciousness, how explain memory, imagination, self knowledge."

"Again behaviorism denies the instincts. Victor Hugo somewhere said, 'A little instinct is mightier than a great reason.' Is the instinctive activity, so prevalent in all animal life, a learned activity? Experience would not seem to so dictate. Take a very simple illustration. The wasp gathers food, lays eggs beside the food and covers the whole with a wall of mud. The wasp has no chance to learn from older wasps. She has never seen a wasp's nest made. When the preceding nests were made, she herself was an unhatched egg."

"Behaviorism cannot face the fine distinctions that life demands of us. If conduct is simply an automatic response to stimulate, if every human action is just a mechanical reflex, what becomes of right and wrong, of freedom and of moral heroism?"

"The major drive, however, of behaviorism is against religion. Religion is old wives' fables and God is a myth. So many deny belief flippantly. A proper question in the midst of this superficiality is, what are the beliefs of unbelievers? Religious faith has its difficulties but its denial lands us in the 'Slough of Despond.'"

"The internal weakness of behaviorism is to be found in the fact that it is a psychology which is built on contempt for philosophy. This animus is due to a desire to be rid of religion."

"The soul of both philosophy and religion is consciousness. Behaviorism is an attack of consciousness because it is derived from a kind of subtle religious philosophy. Consciousness is a quality of the human soul that relates it to God. There is oneness in kind. The difference is in degree."

"This is the dread of the behaviorist. He seems to be animated by a secret fear that if he were to grant the reality of consciousness, he would logically be driven to belief in God. His fear is well-founded. But since God to him is an annoyance instead of a satisfier, he must not be approached even at a distance."

"Edgar Brightman has an illuminating sentence. 'Behaviorism may be regarded as a rationalization of the desire that there be no God.'"

ORANGE COUNTY HAS HIGH RANK IN VALUATIONS

erty, including the values of railroads as determined by the state board of equalization, Orange county ranked seventh, with a figure of $206,832,045. Counties which preceded in their numerical order were Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda, San Diego, Kern and Fresno. Three counties in the state, Alpine, Del Norte and Lake had no figures reported for railroad assessment valuations.

A figure of $43,590,860 won for this county the rank of eighth place in the value of improvements on real estate.

The funded debt of the county was well down on the list, making a desirable combination with the valuations ranking high and the indebtedness ranking low. Orange county was in 20th place in the totals for funded debt, with a figure of $896,000.

Reports from hospitals and authorities show there were eight persons injured, none seriously, in six automobile crashes.

Three persons were injured at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Clara street and Magnolia avenue, near Anaheim, when a machine driven by Daniel Dakovich, of Anaheim, route No. 1, collided with another machine.

Mrs. Bessie Dakovich, George Dakovich and Daniel Dakovich, were reported cut and bruised. They were taken to their homes.

100 ATTRACTED TO SESSION AT SAN CLEMENTE

At the meeting of the fourth district of the P.-T. A. at San Clemente Saturday, a resolution was passed regarding the purchase of a site for an Orange county civic center. The resolution was passed after workers had heard talks on the subject given by Ted Craig, of Brea, assemblyman from this district, and Mrs. J. V. Kelsey.

The resolution is as follows: "Whereas, we, the members of the fourth district of Parent-Teacher association, in convention assembled, believe that the youth of Orange county need a recreational center where healthful, educational and patriotic activities may be promoted and community and civic betterment may be furthered, and knowing that Orange county is greatly in need of some such location, therefore it is resolved that we pledge our support to the proposed measure authorizing the purchase of the site known as the Orange county fair grounds, to be known as the Orange County Civic center. It is also resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the board of supervisors and to the county press."

Members of the resolution committee included Mrs. Edith Snow, Mrs. Florence Summers and Mrs. Mildred Ridenour.

Over 100 members of the district were present and during the morning and afternoon sessions, many interesting speakers were heard. Dr. Ellen Stockmiller, state chairman of child hygiene and physical development and member of the state board of health, gave an interesting talk. Dr. Stockmiller will speak tomorrow afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at a meeting of the city council of the P.-T. A., which will open at 2 p. m.
Other speakers included Dean Acres, member of the San Clemente school board, who gave the address of welcome to the visiting delegates, and Mrs. Florence Summers, who spoke on "Citizenship".
The principal speaker of the afternoon was Ted Craig, who explained proposed legislative measures which are to come before voters November 4. A talk on proposed legislative measures as they affect educational problems was to have been given by H. G. Nelson, principal of Julia La-throp school. Dr. Nelson will be asked to give the talk at a meeting of the county presidents to be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Robertson, president of the fourth district, October 23.

Other speakers were Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, Mrs. O. M. Robertson and Mrs. T. L. Filance, president of the fifth district.

WORLD PEACE DISCUSSED BY PASTOR SUNDAY

Based on the text, "Blessed are the peacemakers," Matthew 5:9, the Rev. Paul Andres, pastor of the Federation Spiritual Science church, last night discussed the relation of the church to world peace and fellowship for his congregation.

"When man shall love what he hates today and hate what he loves, he will be a different being and life will be finer and richer than it now is," he declared. "Many spiritual ideas shine forth before the foundation of international law, for Spiritualism sees in God the Father of mankind, and in men the children of God. The unity of the human race, and the brotherhood of all peoples, are herein recognized in their principle."

"Spiritualism humbles the haughtiness of the ancient selfish complacency, and demands humility; it lays its hand on egotism at its roots, and requires its renunciation."

"It reckons self-sacrifice for men grander than any lordship over them. It thus removes the impediments which were in the way of any ancient law of nations. Its highest commandment is the love of mankind, and it carries this up even to the point of love for enemies. It works to liberate and enfranchise, as it purifies men, and unites them in reconciliation with God. It announces the Message of Peace."

"It becomes then a thing not remote to transport these ideas and commandments into the language of law and to transform them into fundamental proposition of human law of nations, which recognizes all peoples as free members of the great human family, which concerns itself for the world's peace, and which even in time of war demands respect for the rights of humanity."

"Spiritualism is the predestined point of unity in which earth and heaven, Jew and Gentile meet and are one. The love of every man for all men will be the new earthy Paradise, the Paradise regained."

S.A. COMMUNITY CHEST AIDED BY CHAIN STORES

The kind of co-operation is being given to the Community Chest campaign by the local managers of branch houses and chain stores, according to the statement of A. N. Zerman, who has been active on the committee which has charge of the solicitation of these firms. Because it takes time to get approval from headquarters for contributions from the branch houses, the committee started work well in advance of the general campaign, so that results might be available on time. They are greatly pleased with the response.

"A considerable proportion of the business of Santa Ana is handled by firms whose finances and policies are controlled outside of the city," said Zerman. "and we are glad to note that these firms are realizing their obligation to take part in the various interests of our community. We have been delighted with the attitude of most of the local managers of the chain stores, who have willingly given full co-operation in securing the approval of their management for appropriate contributions. We expect to be able to report very nearly one hundred per cent participation in the Community Chest by these firms, when the time comes for us to render an account."

DEPUTIES 'KILL TWO BIRDS' IN RAID FOR BOOZE

Sheriff's officers, led by F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, "killed two birds with one stone" Saturday night when they raided the home of Casper Schantz, 62, near Buena Park, for liquor.

Liquor was found and Schantz was arrested on a charge of possession and brought to the county jail. While the officers were searching the premises, A. C. Wallace, 33, also of Buena Park, for whom officers have been searching for several days in connection with another liquor case, drove up to the house and was promptly arrested.

Sheriff's officers arrested Oris J. Wallace for possession of liquor several days ago, when the Wallace home was raided, but A. C. Wallace was not found at that time, Howard explained.

Only a small amount of liquor was reported found in the Schantz home, it was reported.

Wallace was later released on bail of $250.

JESUS, COMMON THINGS OF LIFE SERMON TOPIC

VILLA PARK, Oct. 13.—Dr. W. M. Tipple gave a short talk instead of a sermon yesterday morning. His theme was "Jesus and the Common Things of Life."

He said in part: "The communion table is spread here before us and I should like to give a few thoughts along the line of what it means. What does communion mean? It means fellowship with God and with those around about us. Do we ourselves know the real meaning of communion? Of the real fellowship of the living God? Are we classed as some are classed, as social aristocrats? Feeling our denominational differences so much, that we have no time or thoughts for brotherhood? Is that the attitude which shines out or casts a shadow?"

"Communion was a feast to begin with, and then it was turned into the Lord's Supper."

"We need in our religion today, a sort of reality which it lacks. When Jesus raised the daughter of the officer from the dead, He commanded them to give her something to eat. He was caring for the body. There are many men who are hungry today. In Detroit over 3000 men, women and children, are in the bread line today. And everywhere, men and women are hungering for spiritual food."

"When we have studied the attitude of Christians, we wonder if they have done all that possibly could be done with courage, sacrifice and sympathy. Sometimes I wonder if it is not our own fault that the churches are so empty. Love is all the law we need."

"Dr. Fosdick related a story at a naval academy. A group of young men were talking one evening. One said, 'What is a Christian, anyway?' After a pause, one of the cadets said, 'To answer your question, if I may answer it in two words—Oscar Westover.' So should we live, that when Christianity is mentioned, our name is thought of immediately."

SEVEN DIVORCE DECREES GIVEN BY TWO JUDGES

Interlocutory divorce decrees were granted last week after hearings by Judges G. K. Scovel and H. G. Ames in seven cases. One decree of annulment was also granted, which made a total of 16 persons released from marriage ties during the afternoon by action of the court.

Habitual intemperance and cruelty were the charges brought in actions which won the decrees for Nancy Slaven and Lois Fish from their respective husbands, Fred M. Slaven and Lualbert Fish. By a strange coincidence both couples were married in 1918. The court order in the Fish case carried an award of $25 per month for support of an adopted child.

Evelyn Kiker charged Kenneth Kiker with desertion. They were married in 1926. The same charge was used against Floyd A. Walker by Ruth C. Walker in severing marriage ties that were assumed in Iowa in 1911.

Lillian V. Collins was awarded a decree and custody of their child after the court heard evidence in her suit against Herman C. Collins. The court also awarded payment of $30 per month for support of the child. Mrs. Collins informed the court, in substantiation of her charges of cruel and inhuman treatment, that her husband represented himself as a government secret service agent, being required to be out at night, whereas she alleged he spent his time with other women.

PRIZE WINNER

Here is the prize winning cartoon against the proposed Daylight Savings law which will be balloted on in California in November, the picture being declared the best of a large number drawn by Santa Ana children for the Fox West Coast theaters of Santa Ana. The contest closed several days ago. Miss Lucile Stoker of Santa Ana is the cartoonist and won a $5 prize for her work.

DAYLIGHT SAVING HIT BY CARRIERS

Terming it an "unnecessary and often defeated piece of legislation," the letter carriers of California unilaterally oppose daylight saving.

A resolution to that effect was unanimously passed by the postal employees who met at Glendale for the annual state convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

Daylight saving, according to the resolution, would force postal employees to start their work before daybreak, force a longer day upon them, and create unnatural hours for work and sleep.

The resolution also cited the fact that farm and labor organizations were opposed to the passage of the daylight saving measure which appears on the November 4 ballot.

Speakers at the convention branded the proposed law as a needless legislation which would disrupt the orderly routine of family life and business.

2 Damage Actions For $40,125 Filed Against I. S. Paley

Ivor S. Paley is defendant in two damage actions filed in superior court Friday afternoon in which judgments totaling $40,125 are sought. The complaints were filed by John O. and Helene W. King and by Malinda Walker.

The Kings are asking $15,075 for injuries to Mrs. King sustained in an auto accident which occurred November 30, 1929, on North Main street. It is alleged that the defendant operated his car in a reckless, careless and unlawful manner, causing the accident which injured Mrs. King and her 13-year-old daughter.

The complaint filed in behalf of the girl seeks a judgment for $25,050 for injuries including a cut which it is claimed will leave a three-inch scar on her face and permanently disfigure her.

H. B. Man Is Given Jail Term For Non-Support

George M. Taylor, of Huntington Beach, charged in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court with non-support of three minor children, was sentenced to serve one year in the county jail, in court this morning and will serve the sentence unless he can make a surety bond before night guaranteeing a payment of $60 per month for the children's upkeep, the court ruled.

Taylor was arrested several days ago by sheriff's officers. The court declared the case was an exaggerated one.

Want To Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive-like color. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

Public Speaking Class Opens Here Tuesday Evening

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock the fall term in public speaking will be inaugurated at the Y.M.C.A. The course of instruction, which will be under the personal supervision of R. C. Smedley, will carry through 16 weeks, in which there will be given a great deal of practice and criticism as well as practical instruction in the art of extemporaneous speech.

Smedley has been successfully teaching men to speak in public for a number of years, and both in his classes and in the Toastmasters club, of which he is the founder, great progress has been made. The class which starts tomorrow night is limited to 20 members, so that there may be time for personal instruction and practice for all.

The opening is open to the public and all men who are interested are invited to attend, whether they have decided to enroll or not.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

In this day of depression and unemployment we read and hear it discussed on every hand, what capital can do for labor and what labor can do for capital. But I think there is a question of more vital importance, "What can the businessman and merchant do for labor (both common and skilled)?"

Mr. Merchant wonders why his business is bad, why so many merchants are going broke, why the man who must labor for his living cannot pay his honest debts. Come let us reason together.

At the present time there is at least (a very conservative estimate) three quarters of a million dollars improvements taking place in Santa Ana. What per cent of that is being done by home labor. I will not attempt to say for it is most unbelievable. But go up to your three big jobs now under way; see how many familiar faces there are.

What are we going to do; sit idly by, vote more bonds, increase our taxes, let Los Angeles, Long Beach and San Diego labor come in and reap the benefit and your local labor loaf. Your merchant closes his doors while our larger cities get the cream.

It can't be possible their mechanics are superior. We are all men; some may be superior to others but it just can't happen Santa Ana is blessed with a lot of dubs.

Now Mr. Merchant, let's get together and see if something can't be done which will be profitable to both alike. You need the business, we need the work. Why not a slogan: "Home Labor—Home Merchants."

BLIND FLYING AID

CHICAGO—Earl C. Hanson, Chicago scientist, has invented a new device to help pilots make a safe landing in a fog. It is an instrument which intercepts electrons from Neon tubes on the field. This causes a hum in the pilot's earphones and activates an electrical altimeter that shows the height of the plane above ground.

INCREASED PAINT BUSINESS IS SEEN

W. H. Beadle, of the Sherwin-Williams paint store, local agents and paint headquarters at 504 North Main street, said they received this week a message from the president of the Sherwin-Williams company, of Cleveland, to the effect that all of the company's factories have been put on a full-time basis, due to the pick up in orders and the company's confidence in improved business. This confirms Beadle's views based on his observations here in this vicinity.

"Fall is the ideal time to paint," Beadle said. "There is considerable delayed painting to be done. Property needs protection from winter. It's cheaper to paint than to repair, and there's an old Dutch proverb that says 'Good paint costs nothing,' which simply means that it's cheaper to use the best paint which figures out the cheapest by the job, by the square foot, and per year of service. It costs just as much to apply poor paint as it does to apply good paint. Most people who have tried trading where they could 'save money' by buying 'cheap paint' come back here to paint headquarters and stay with fine old S. W. P. house paint. I really look for a splendid fall business. Our paint sales have held up very well, and more people seem to be paint conscious than ever before. There is no investment as small as a paint investment that brings so much satisfaction and adds so much value to property."

Beadle said that he considered the Sherwin-Williams color advertising in Saturday Evening Post will do much to further popularize color and painting and he plans to tie up closely with this big program with newspaper advertising in the Register.

Pictures Shown As Photographers Meet In Anaheim

The Orange County Photographers' association, of which Edward Cochems is president, met Friday night at Anaheim in the Mary Betzold studio. Through the courtesy of the National Photographers' association, an exhibit was made of pictures which had been displayed at the national convention of photographers in Milwaukee, last July.

New members were received last night, including Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Wood of Anaheim and P. O. Dodge of Long Beach.

Following the regular meeting, at which committee reports and instructional work were featured,

Driver Held For Failing To Stop After Collision

Charged with failure to stop and render aid after an automobile accident, Walter M. Wood, 30, of 1335 St. Louis street, Long Beach, was lodged in the county jail Friday night after the car he is said to have been driving collided with a machine driven by Chester Wilken, of Costa Mesa, and occupied by members of his family. No one was reported injured in the crash. The accident occurred on West Seventeenth street near the Huntington Beach road.

After the accident, Wood is said to have jumped from his machine and to have run away. He was found about a block from the scene of the accident by Jess Buckles, deputy sheriff, two hours later and was promptly arrested. Both cars were disabled in the crash.

FULLERTON JOINS WATER DISTRICT

The board of directors of the Metropolitan Water district today voted unanimous consent to the annexation of Ontario and Fullerton, leaving final decisions on the entry to balloting in the two communities.

City councils of the two cities had petitioned for admission to the district, and delegations of voters from both places were present at a meeting of the directors late yesterday.

Eleven communities already are in the district and under the provisions of the resolution adopted by the board, Fullerton and Ontario would be admitted by payment of the same amount as that paid by the original members.

This includes, however, payments for 1929 and 1930 assessments as well as for the coming year.

They were guests of Mrs. Betzold at a dinner in the Marigold cafe. The next meeting will be held on October 24 at the plant of the Santa Ana Engraving company.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY LEGION COUNCIL

An election of officers at the meeting of the county council of the American Legion held at Tustin Friday night resulted in selection of a new commander and adjutant and the re-election of the present treasurer.

The members of the county body chose Fred Sidebottom, of Anaheim, to succeed Franklin Grouard, of Santa Ana, as leader during the ensuing year, and for the post of adjutant elected Jack Hebron, also of Anaheim, to succeed Art Ecklund, of Santa Ana. Lester Tubbs was re-elected treasurer of the council.

Reports of committees for the past year were received. Special interest was centered in the report of the welfare committee, which told of the plan worked out during the year whereby the county welfare officer of the Legion has his work co-related with that of the welfare department of Orange county and received county support in the maintenance of the office and the relief work among the veterans.

DONS VANQUISH LONG BEACH

Saint Eleven Plays Compton Friday

HIGASHI, BELL MAY GET JOBS IN BACKFIELD

Having convinced all concerned that they can and will play good football, the reformed Sinning Saints of Santa Ana high school today settled down to an assignment that calls for them to do it all over again Friday afternoon.

Scheduled to play their second successive Coast Preparatory league game on foreign fields, Coach "Tex" Oliver's clan will find at Compton a much better team than the shellacked Woodrow Wilson Bears were last week.

Lake Wilson, Compton is one of those schools that only cast its lot this term with the Coast league. Lions had one of the very best prep elevens in the south two years ago and the old winning spirit still prevails at the school where "Deacon" Pine, once an Orange football hero, and Frank Anthony, former guard at the University of Southern California, are retained to direct both high school and junior college football.

Compton Reveals Strength
Compton lost to Long Beach Poly 14 to 0, in its opening conference struggle Saturday. That was a fine showing for a team getting its baptism in the "big league" of prep grid work, for Long Beach was champion of Southern California last fall and holds over all but a few of its "hot shots."

The Saints came through the Wilson scuffle in good shape physically and, barring injuries in practice, will kickoff at Compton better equipped than at any time this season.

"Red" Kidder, the sophomore who started in the backfield, hurt his wrist but will be ok in a day or two. When Kidder was taken out of the game, Oliver inserted Fred Bell, a nimble-footed little colored lad who blocked so well that he may have stepped right out and taken Kidder's job away from him. Bell is just as fast as the red-head.

Another candidate who will see more action in the backfield because of his fine work at Long Beach is Hideo Higashi, formerly an end. As soon as Oliver shoved Higashi into a back position, the Saints began to click and they never stopped while this boy was running interference with the hard-hitting Harold Pangle. Higashi also carries the ball with plenty of determination.

Reboing, Pangle Are Aces
Oliver, of course, is not worrying about the other two members of his backfield, Captain Al Reboing and Pangle having clinched their places long ago. These veteran backs look better than ever this season and with any kind of support will lead the Saints to a one-two-three finish in the league race. They are the backbone of the team. "Pop" Blower and Don Crumley saw little action against Wilson but were back in harness today. Blower's return to servitude and the improvement in Jimmy Daneri and "Gib" Melsinger at end may decide Oliver definitely to make a back out of Higashi, although so far the Japanese lad has been able to interchange the positions without a slip.

Oliver has little fault to find with the defense of his green line. He knows there is plenty of room for improvement on offense, however, and intends to stress that in workouts this week.

Joe Freininger and Lawrence Lutz have the edge at tackle so far but Glenn Minter, Bill Donahue and Lee Hoffmaster are still in the running. There are four guards of almost equal ability—Tom Beasley, Garth Olsen, Dallas Reichstein and Ilard Runyan. They all were up to snuff against Wilson, and the work of the sturdy center, Roy Harvey, left nothing to be desired either.

'Big Three' Top Race In Prep League

Santa Ana, San Diego and Long Beach—"Big Three"—of the Coast Preparatory league—were in their accustomed places at the percentage tables today, as a result of their victories in first round games last week.

Beginning the defense of its league and Southern California titles, Long Beach blanketed Compton 14-0. The champions found Compton sturdy defensively and it took a couple of long runs by "Red" Franklin, the Jackrabbits' Reboing, to turn the tide. One of Franklin's sorties measured 55 yards.

San Diego sandbagged a weaker than usual Pasadena eleven, 31-7, with little "Cotton" Warburton running for touchdowns all over the place. Warburton ran 75 yards for one of the scores.

The standings:

MAGIAS HEADS DELHI BOXING CARD THURSDAY

With the "women free" policy again in effect, "Wild Man" Magias and Johnny DeCorsey, well known welterweights, will headline Thursday night's boxing program at the Orange County Athletic club here. They will travel ten rounds.

Jim Jeffries, one of the greatest heavyweights of all time, will be in DeCorsey's corner, according to announcement by "Pop" Barrett, matchmaker for Promoter Henry T. Foust.

With Jeffries will be his sensational protegee, Al Moore, who recently stunned the boxing world with a clean cut victory over Armond Emanuel at Hollywood.

Jeffries has taken DeCorsey under his wing. Several months ago, Magias was given a decision over DeCorsey but the verdict was accompanied by boos and catcalls from the crowd, which figured the barrel-chested "Wild Man" was plenty lucky to get the call.

"Dutch" Easter, a junior lightweight who has just joined Billy Darnley's stable here, will make his local debut against Ad Cadena in the special event, also booked for six heats.

Other bouts scheduled are Harry O'Hannigan vs. Tony Cadena, 155 pounds, four rounds, and Jackie Rutherford vs. Antero Palacios, 112 pounds, four rounds.

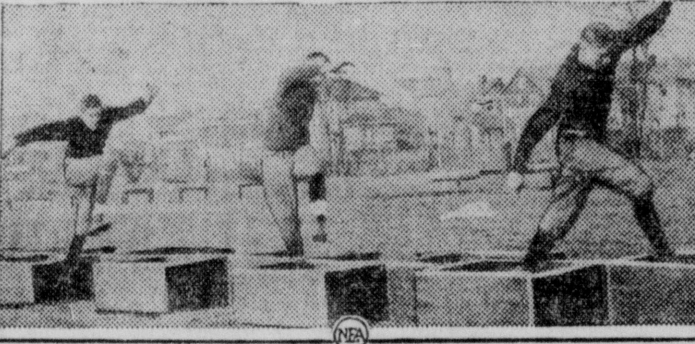

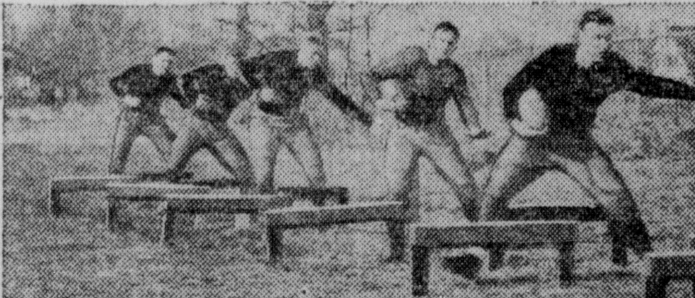

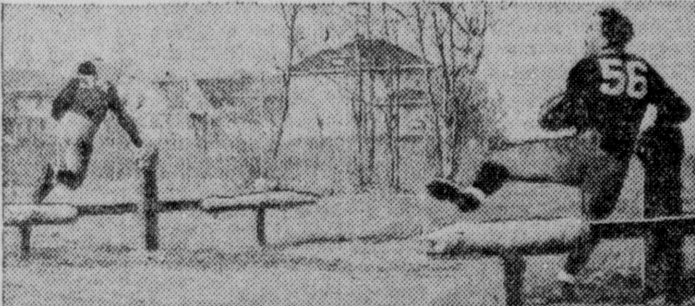

"DORM" PLAYER
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 10.—Paul O'Connor, shock troop right half at Notre Dame, got his start as an interhall player when he was noticed by Coach Rockne and moved to the varsity squad. He is an excellent trackman and does the 220 in close to record time.

A few words about the short pitch shot with two particular bits of advice may be of aid to your golf game. Incidentally, the short pitch shot with a bunker between ball and cup, and a long approach putt where I am in doubt about the borrow to be taken, are the two hardest shots in my round of golf.

On the short pitch, I would advise cutting down on the backswing, both in the speed which takes the clubhead back and in the distance it goes back. Those words, which convey an impression of a half swing, or at the most a three-quarter swing, should be enough.

MANUFACTURING HALFBACKS

If you hear of Northwestern's halfbacks doing a lot of fancy side-stepping and pivoting out of the grasp of would-be tacklers this fall, remember this picture and you'll know how they get that way. The top photo shows the Purple using their scrimmage machine, a device of padded posts which takes a lot of abuse when the signal is called sending each player to get his "post." Next below is a device that teaches the halfback to use a stiff arm while throwing his feet over the imaginary arms of a tackler. The third picture also combines stiff-arming with hurdling. The athletes are taught to take those hurdles in order without getting out of step. Below are the special boxes which are used to teach the ball-carriers the art of the body twist and knee lifting.

Give Vaccine Shot To Grid Squad Of 110

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 13.—(INS) — Northwestern's chances for an unbroken march to the Big Ten football title did not appear to be seriously endangered today although 110 members of the varsity and freshman squads were beginning to feel the effects of smallpox anti-toxin.

Following Capt. Hank Bruder's removal to isolation hospital Saturday where it was discovered that he had a mild case of smallpox, the entire football personnel was assembled yesterday at Dyche stadium and the vaccine applied by the wholesale.

Practice will go on as usual, it was announced. Four hundred will be vaccinated in all, including members of Bruder's fraternity and the athletic staff.

Making four runs in a spectacular ninth inning rally, Allen Sawyer's Santa Ana Merchants won from the previously undefeated Anapauma Rancho baseball team, 5 to 4, in the feature game of yesterday's Orange County Harbor league schedule.

Jerry Heard's double, scoring both Schuchardt and Winchell accounted for the tying and winning tallies in the last round. Prather had started the rally with a double. Vatcher fanned but Willcutt walked and Schuchardt beat out a bunt, scoring Prather. Hall's sacrifice fly scored Prather. Winchell drove a pass and scored with Schuchardt when Heard connected with his timely two-bagger.

Anapauma put on a stretch run of its own in the last of the ninth but Johnny Willcutt managed to quell the dangerous uprising after they had scored twice.

The Merchants got their earlier run in the first on Hall's single and Heard's double.

COOKMEN FACE COMPTON HERE NEXT SATURDAY

By "SKY" DUNLAP

Basking in the memory of the sound thrashing they administered to the Vikings of Long Beach junior college here Saturday, Coach Bill Cook and his Santa Ana junior college football players knuckled down today for probably the hardest week of practice to be endured during the entire season, to be in readiness for the invasion of the powerful Compton Tartars Saturday at Poly field.

Despite the fact that the Dons defeated Long Beach 19 to 0, made 21 first downs to one for Long Beach and beat the highly touted Tartar team of 1929, 14 to 0, the Santa Anans have a healthy respect for Coach Pine and his Compton gridders.

In explanation, it might be said that Compton had the largest grid turnout in its history this season. Two Saturdays back, they held the strong University of Southern California frosh to a scoreless tie, the same bunch of Trojans that beat the Dons 7 to 0. And on Saturday, Los Angeles junior college bowed before the Tartars, 6 to 0. Los Angeles, with over 3000 students and 150 out for football, including 22 lettermen, was picked to wait through the season undefeated.

Dons Rout Vikings
Harking back to the Long Beach struggle Saturday, SANTA ANA in capital letters describes the conflict. With big Clarence Hapes pounding through the line, Wayne ("Galloping") Garlock turning in a wonderful game of ground gaining, the forwards hitting hard and low and everything clicking, it was no wonder that Long Beach went scoreless. For three years now, the Vikings have not crossed the Padre goal line. In those three years, Santa Ana has scored 48 points, 7 in 1929, 22 last year and 19 Saturday. Just an old Spanish custom!

It looked bad for Santa Ana on the first play after the kickoff. Long Beach, receiving the ball, punted on first down over Garlock's head. After catching up to the pigskin, Wayne dropped it on the 30-yard line where Long Beach recovered. King hit a stone wall four times, however, and the Dons took the ball where Garlock dropped it.

Santa Ana's first touchdown came in the first of the second quarter after a march of 39 yards. Garlock ran a punt back from midfield to the Viking 39-yard line. Hapes and Garlock advanced the ball to the 23-yard line, after which Emmett Seacord entered the game and helped the Dons go over the goal.

Hapes Smashes Lines
The fullback saved the day, when with fourth down and five to go, he carried the Long Beach team on his back for the necessary five yards. And then Seacord, with fourth down and five to go, crashed through for seven yards to the three-yard line and Hapes took it over. On a trick play, Van Meter failed to buck the ball over for the extra point.

The second touchdown was scored in the third quarter with Garlock and Hapes plowing through huge holes made by their forwards. The Dons received the leather on their own 40-yard line and in 15 plays, an average of four yards on each attempt, the score was raised to 12 to 0. Garlock was a fighting fool in this drive, making 52 of the 60 yards. His runs, with the number of yards, were: 10, 9, 1, 2, 6, 4, 1, 9, 2, 3 and 7. Hapes went over from the three yard line but Beatty's placekick was blocked by Stricklin.

Coach Cook began sending in a string of reserves in the fourth quarter and after three threatening to score, took advantage of the fourth opportunity and pushed over the last marker. Hapes made one outstanding 12-yard run to the 29-yard line but the Dons lost the ball on down on the 23-yard-marker. Gene Olsen intercepted a pass on the next play, giving the Dons the ball on the 24-yard mark but Long Beach again held on the 19-yard stripe.

Dunham Recovers Fumble
Long Beach fumbled on the first play, however, and Dunham recovered for the Dons on the 16-yard line. After four plays, Long Beach took the ball on down on the 18-yard line but Garlock intercepted a long pass on the 30-yard line and zig-zagged back to the 18-yard mark. Garlock made six yards in two tries, whereupon a little sawed off quarter named "Shorty" Privett began to run Long Beach silly. He took two whacks to get over the three-yard line, from where Bert Wilkins, substituting for Hapes, plunged over. Privett ran

QUEENS OF U.S. GOLF TEE OFF IN TITLE PLAY

Miss Mary Saulsbury, premier Santa Ana Country club woman golfer, was among those who tee off in Los Angeles today in qualifying rounds for the National Women's championships.

BY E. W. KRAUCH
(I. N. S. Special Correspondent)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 13.—Queens of American golf, hailing from the four corners of the United States, fared forth over the north course of the Los Angeles Country club today in what promised to be one of the greatest Women's National championship tournaments in history.

The field, which will tee off in the 18-holes of qualifying this morning total exactly 102 and included, practically every feminine golfing star of note in the country, despite the fact that today marks the first time that a women's championship has been staged on a course west of the Mississippi.

Glenna Collett of New York City, of course, headed the list of starters. The great Glenna, four-time winner of the crown and present holder of the title, appeared to be the main choice, although she has not been scoring exceptionally well in practice during the past week.

Most Los Angeles links enthusiasts seem to like the chances of Leona Pressler of the San Gabriel Country club.

Among the others who were coming in for a great deal of consideration were Mrs. Gregg Lufur, Los Angeles, Maureen Orcutt, New York, known as the "hard luck champion; Helen Hicks, Inwood, N. Y.; Marion Hollins of Santa Cruz, Calif., and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell-Hurd, Philadelphia, who held the title a few years back.

PARKER WINS CLUB MEDAL PLAY MATCH

George A. Parker won Class A medal play sweepstakes at the Santa Ana Country club over the week end, shooting an 84-14-70 to "outnigger" Van Pomeroy, 82-10-72, and H. B. Van Dien, 83-10-73. H. B. Rapp, 89-14-75, and C. R. Furr, 87-12-75, were next.

R. A. Mosher won the Class B sweeps. He shot 92-22-70. Next in line were E. Robins, 89-18-71, and J. W. Beach and Dr. W. S. Wallace, both with 92-20-72.

Match play results: Class A—Ed Holmes, three down; Bill Foote, four down; B. V. Curry and L. D. Coffing, five down. Class B—R. W. (Bill) Cole, one down; Dr. A. K. Loersch, P. C. Russell and Dr. W. E. Watkins, three down.

I also would advise a club with plenty of loft, such as a niblick, a mashie niblick or a spade mashie, depending on the distance to be gained. Then the shot should be hit firmly, with no attempt made to lift the ball.

Lifting the ball is the task of the club. The face is laid back so as to get the ball into the air. All you have to do is hit the ball properly.

HOLMES PLAYS UPSETS MARK POMEROY FOR GRID BATTLES GOLFING TITLE ON ALL FRONTS

Ed Holmes Jr., for the past three years undisputed golf champion of Santa Ana, today found his way to a fourth successive city title obliterated by a schoolboy challenger of rare promise, Van Pomeroy.

Holmes went into the finals yesterday by defeating 3 and 2, B. Z. McInerney, Santa Ana attorney, while Pomeroy was eliminating Dr. G. C. Ross, local dentist, 2 and 1.

Champion and challenger will play a 36-hole final Sunday, 18 in the morning and 18 more in the afternoon, and despite his greater tournament experience, Holmes will not go postward more than an even choice to retain his coronet. Pomeroy, a junior collegian here, uses woods and irons with equal ability, and is certainly Holmes' most dangerous challenger.

To beat McKinney, Holmes shot an even 80. In quelling the bid of Dr. Ross, Pomeroy came home in 79.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

SPEAKS ABOUT LETTERS FOR ASIA CHURCHES

At the Broadway and Walnut street Church of Christ Sunday morning the Rev. James H. Sewell considered the letters to the churches in Asia, recorded in the second and third chapters of Revelation. Before taking up consideration of each letter the Rev. Mr. Sewell adduced proof that these letters were written to congregations in Asia at that time, and not simply pictures representing seven stages in the history of the church of Christ, as is sometimes contended. He then mentioned some general characteristics of the letters, and on this part of his subject said:

"The first general characteristic of the letters is that each is addressed to the angel of that particular church. Just what is meant by the angel of a church I do not know; but apparently there was some one connected with each church whose business it was to read to the church a message intended for it—possibly whose business it was to take to the apostles a report of the condition of the church. 'Angel' means messenger, and it may be the one who had charge of this work is meant, but the letters were written to the churches, not to individuals.

"The next general characteristic is that Christ in the beginning of each letter represents Himself as a distinct character, and that character has some references to the condition of that church. For instance: To the church in Pergamos he said, 'These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges'; and in his admonition to that church he says: 'Repent, or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.'

"Each letter begins with praise, if there is anything to commend. We are prone to express criticism first, and then, seeing we have wounded too deeply, we speak words of commendation. The Lord, understanding human nature, first expresses praise, if praise is possible, then gives the reproof.

"The next general characteristic is that most of the churches came far short of the Lord's ideal. This should suggest the question that if Christ were sending out such letters today, would we be in the small class he commended, or in the larger class where he found some things to condemn?

"In each letter Christ tells that church what it is doing, from which we receive the idea that he knows what we are doing. He promises rich rewards to the churches that continue in well doing. We are in the army of the Lord, and should constitute a wonderful army, but many of us are poorly equipped for the conflict. We are surrounded with temptations, we must fight our evil tempers and our desires to engage in things that tend to draw us away from the Lord. Our only means of safety is to put on the whole armor of God, study to learn his will and apply it in our lives, and thus be fitted for the battle that is ever before us."

Choose Officers Of Chorus Choir For Local Church

Plans for a season of activity were made by members of the chorus choir of the First Christian church at a recent meeting at which officers for the year were elected. It was announced today by James O'Brien, secretary of the organization. There were 27 members of the choir and seven visitors present at the meeting which was held at the church.

Officers selected were as follows: president, C. A. Lansdowne; secretary, James O'Brien; director, E. H. Elsener; organist, Mrs. R. S. Briggs. Activities for the year include a monthly dinner at the church and an attendance contest between the altos and basses on one side and the sopranos and tenors on the other. The attendance contest is to continue until the first Monday in February, when a dinner is to be served to the winners by the losers, with the menu to be selected by the winners. Royce Williams is in charge of the alto and bass section of the choir during the contest, while James O'Brien will lead the sopranos and tenors.

NECESSITY OF UNITY TOLD BY LOCAL PASTOR

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, spoke Sunday morning on "The Beauty of Unity," taking for his text I. Cor. 3:3. He said in part:

"The badge of discipleship is not a pass word, a pin on the lapel of your coat, the way you wear your hair neither the style of your clothes, but by this shall ye know ye are my disciples that ye love one another. That does not confine us to our own sectarian walls, for if ye love those that love you what reward have ye?"

"The greatest evidence of the baptism of the spirit is that ye love one another. For this old book says 'If ye bite and devour one another ye are not yet carnal'."

"It has been one of the tricks of the Devil through the ages to divide the forces of right and many times by mere trifles, and yet he would unite the forces of evil. This is being witnessed as never before this year in politics.

"We may be a small church, but if we are an united church, nothing can stand before us. Rain drops are tiny but when united tear out bridges, sweep away cities and the strong works of men. When the rain drops unite we say the river is on a rampage and we move to the highlands.

A grain of sand is tiny and might spend the night lodged in your eye, but united on our great shores, they hold back the incoming tide that charges and threatens like an army to sweep us out to sea.

"Snow flakes are small and falling here and there melt on the brim of your hat, the lapel of your coat, but while you sleep they pile up and block traffic, until babies cry for milk and children freeze for lack of coal. 'We are laborers together with God.' We have our place. 'Every member one of another' Christ prayed, that we might all be one for this purpose, that the world might believe. It is divisions and discord that have driven people away from the church and into the ranks of unbelievers."

Pleasure pleases; joy satisfies.

SAYS CANADIAN BOOZE CONTROL IS NOT RIGID

An extensive musical program was presented at the service of the Men's Community Bible class yesterday morning, with solos by Mrs. A. C. Smith and Herschel Clayton. Mrs. Smith sang "I Come to Thee" and "His Eye Is on the Sparrow." Clayton, who is song leader of the class, sang a Negro spiritual, "He's the Lily of the Valley" and "Old Man River."

The speaker yesterday was Judge Fleetwood Bell, who told of liquor conditions under government control in Canada and his trip to that country this summer.

"Government control of liquor in Canada can be disposed of in very few words," Judge Bell declared. "The government controls the liquor from the time it enters the warehouse after being made by individuals until it leaves the warehouse for consumption by individuals. That's all the government 'control' there is in Canada.

"As we entered Canada on the Saturday before Labor Day all the filling station men and hotel keepers kept telling us if we wanted liquor we would have to get it before midnight, as everything would be closed up after that. But we found that though things were supposed to be closed up persons who wanted liquor had no trouble getting it. A side issue of government 'control' may be seen in the statement that Victoria is the bootlegger's paradise. Bootleggers are thicker in Canada than anywhere in the United States you ever saw.

"The law in Canada provides that booze must not be drunk except in the home after it is purchased at one of the government stores. But the interpretation they make of the phrase home is ludicrous. We saw an American buy a quart of booze, spread a sheet over a limb of a tree, sit down in full view of everyone and drink his liquor. That was his 'home' for the purpose of drinking liquor.

"Police records show that men are often found with from 12 to 15 permits in their possession under which they are buying liquor. 'Slavery, gambling, social vices and the liquor traffic have all shown their worst phases under legislative control. The only way to get rid of the liquor traffic is to stamp it out and kill it entirely."

JOOS TO DISCUSS CHURCH MAN POWER

"The Man Power of the Church" has been announced as the subject of a lecture to be given tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, in the First Evangelical church, North Main at Tenth street, by J. W. Joos, secretary of civic affairs of the State Federated Brotherhood. There will be musical numbers in connection with the lecture, with Elwood Bear, one of the city's most talented violinists, to play.

The lecture, which will be open to the general public, will be preceded by a banquet at 6:30 o'clock for members of the First Evangelical Brotherhood, with J. W. Joos as the guest of honor. The banquet will be held in the church social rooms.

ORANGE PASTOR GIVES TALK AT FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH ON WONDER, LOVE AND PRAISE

The Rev. P. M. McClure, of Orange, was guest preacher at the First Christian church yesterday during the absence of the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, who is attending the church international convention in Washington, D. C. His subject at the morning service was "Wonder, Love and Praise." He said in part:

"The full scope of religion I believe is summed up in the 13th chapter of I Corinthians, and the sum total of experience in religion is in the three words, wonder, love and praise. There is a thrill for the individual who can feel these in his heart.

"A trophe of wonder in the heart is a sign of a stagnant spirit. Wonder is natural in the hearts of those who truly worship. Wonder and religious experience are inseparably linked in life. No other person in the world has so filled the hearts of others with wonder as the Babe of Bethlehem. We cannot help but wonder as we think of Jesus.

"Chief of the three subjects of this discussion is love. How early in life the spirit of affection enters! How universal it is and how enduring! Surely it is divine and emanates from God. Jesus was successful in His task because He was so filled with love. Love caused Him to pray for His persecutors as He hung in agony on the cross.

"Wonder is the parent of love and they in combination lead to praise. A typical illustration of this is the life of a child. It wonders first, grows to love, then praises its mother to the other children. Praise is often mute—conveyed in expression and acts. There is no better praise than that shown by sacrifice and love. It is most wonderfully and beautifully expressed in the life and work of Christ."

Temperance Union Plans To Discuss Coming Election

"Christian Citizenship and Legislation" is the subject to be discussed by members of the Santa Ana W. C. T. U. in connection with a discussion of the coming election at a meeting of the organization to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church at the corner of Sixth and North Sycamore streets.

Logan Jackson, dry candidate for sheriff, and Harry Westover, dry candidate for district attorney, are to give talks and legislative measures are to be taken up.

MINISTRY OF SUFFERING IS SERMON TOPIC

At the First United Brethren church yesterday morning, the Rev. R. W. Harlow spoke on the topic: "The Ministry of Suffering." He said, "There are few things less understood than human suffering. It is as old as man. It is as far-reaching as from the beginning of the world to the end.

"The Bible teaches us that there was no moral or spiritual deficiency in Christ. To His mother it was said, 'that Holy thing which shall be born of thee.' And after withstanding the various assaults of Satan, He could boldly lift up His head and say, 'The prince of this world cometh and hath nothing in me; and into the eyes of the Pharisees He could look and ask 'Which of you convinceth me of sin?'

"How then could a being so holy as this, be made perfect through suffering? This question is answered in three ways. First, in the perfection of sacrifice. The work of human redemption required not only a sinless but a suffering agent. The victim must not only be unspotted, but laid on the altar and subjected to the fire of suffering, in order to be a valid and powerful offering. Hence He bore our griefs and carried our sorrows, and had laid on him the iniquity of us all. By suffering He gained.

"Second, the perfection of moral development. The perfection of Christ's character in later life must have been of a higher degree than that of his younger days; the one was the perfection of innocence, the other the perfection of a tested and a brighter luster at the last, because it had been submitted to the friction of pain and sorrow.

"Third, 'The perfection of sympathy. One of the necessary things to exercise in true sympathy is the power to forget self. Selfishness must sink before true sympathy can rise. Jesus went to the bottom of suffering. He tasted death for every one. The discipline of pain which He went through helped to make Him a suitable high priest for us. One who is touched with the feeling of our infirmities is able to succor all who are tempted. He bore His suffering in the right spirit. 'He came not to do His own but the will of the Father which sent him.' He is our example.

"Suffering to be a blessing to us, must be borne rightly. The spirit in which we submit to suffering will determine whether it will be an angel to sweeten, or a demon to sour us. Endured in the spirit of trust in God, and submission to His will, tends to bring real peace and joy to the soul."

MESSAGE FROM GOSPELS TOPIC OF REV. OWINGS

Continuing his series of sermons on messages, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached yesterday morning on "The Message of the Gospels." He developed the thought that the writers of the New Testament attempted to present a picture of the Man of Galilee that will persuade others to share in the benefits that accrue to those who know Him. Rev. Owings also declared that the life of every Christian is a message to the world. He said in part:

"In his 'How To Use Your Mind' Professor Harry Kitson tells us that it is always profitable before reading the contents of a book to take a little time to learn something about the author and if possible something of his purpose in undertaking the writing which you are about to read. When we apply this to Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John we discover that their great purpose is to present in artistic and attractive fashion a series of pictures of the Man of Galilee that will persuade those who read.

"The heart throbs of these writers one can feel when he puts himself along with them in their writing. For it is not a cold and heartless relating of the incidents of a great life. It is rather the passionate sharing of transforming experiences that they have had with this Jesus and their eager desire to persuade other men to share in those gracious benefits. 'This,' they say, 'is the way that he touches needy men and women. He can and will do the same for you.'

"Each Christian man is a successor of these Gospel writers of the long ago, 'writing a gospel a chapter each day.' He is sharing with other men, advertising, if you please, the thrilling experiences he has had since Jesus came into his heart. Men read what he writes in his daily conduct and in his attachment to the things of the Kingdom of God. He must constantly test himself as to what it is he has to share and whether he is sharing it in winsome, attractive, and persuasive manner."

FRANK MIKELY TO PRESENT CHARTER

Frank Mikely, national president of the Federation Spiritual Science church, is to be in Santa Ana next Sunday, October 19, it was announced today by Rev. Paul Andres, pastor of the Santa Ana branch of the church, to present the charter to the local congregation.

The presentation ceremony is to take place at the evening service at the church on Logan street. It is anticipated that other church dignitaries and leaders will be present from surrounding towns for the occasion.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The question "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scripture selections contained the following verses from James: "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and to Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him. Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God—a spiritual understanding of Him, and unselfed love . . . Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind."

Success in life is not to be measured by the size and weight of the tombstone, but rather by the loads which we have been able to lift from burdened lives.

GIVES SERMON ON CHARACTER OF CHRISTIANS

"Characteristics of Christians" was the subject discussed for members of the congregation of the Southside Church of Christ yesterday morning by the Rev. J. W. Saunders, evangelist. The sermon was based on the first section of the Sermon on the Mount, and the Rev. Mr. Saunders stressed the importance of humbleness and meekness, the latter of which he characterized as perhaps the most difficult to attain.

"In the fifth chapter of the Gospel of Matthew," he began, "which contains the first section of the Sermon on the Mount, we find set forth the characteristics of Christians. What do we find are the traits to be possessed by the Christian?"

"The Christian is poor in spirit. Humbleness rather than pride is to be one of his characteristics. It is unfortunate that arrogance, both spiritual and social, is so often manifested by the professed Christian. Men are too proud to submit themselves to the teachings of Jesus, and consequently never enjoy the privileges of the Christian life.

"The Christian is a mourner. The true Christian mourns over the daily sins that keep him from being the type of person he should be. This statement of Christ's should also guard us against the false impression that Christianity will solve all our problems for us to the extent that life will become easy. The spiritual life has never been easy.

"Meekness is another characteristic of the Christian. This virtue is perhaps the hardest to attain. Most of us would rather be lions than lambs. But it is literally true that the meek shall inherit the earth. The meek Jesus has conquered the earth while those who have sought to conquer by the power of might have always failed."

Love, as a solution of human problems, cannot be said to have failed until it has been tried.

Family Night Parties To Be Bi-Monthly Affairs

Enthusiastic over the success of their "family night" party held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday night, members of the Tuesday Morning Gym class, under the direction of Mrs. R. R. Russick, are planning to hold such affairs every two months. Members and their families from various Orange county cities were present to share in the frolics of the evening, and business men found that the games of their childhood were as enjoyable now as they ever were.

Following a session of games, guests enjoyed a dip in the plunge. Refreshments were served as a fitting climax to the interesting evening.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Russick, and daughter, Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Granas and daughters, Audrey and Beatrice, Mrs. Henry Wagner, Mrs. Walter Walton, Miss Hester Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baum, Miss Maude Moore, Mrs. Cynthia Davis, Mrs. Mary Bigelow, and J. Smith.

Father and Son Were Guests at Birthday Celebration

Father and son shared birthday congratulations yesterday afternoon when L. H. Hill, 910 West Chestnut avenue, and Bert Hill of Whittier were honored at a family reunion held in the latter's home at 307 Haviland street, Whittier.

A delightful informality reigned throughout the day, and while some of those present enjoyed impromptu musical numbers given by various of the younger members of the family circle, others played croquet on the grounds to the rear of the home. The honor guests received a number of handsome gifts, as well as many baskets of flowers used to adorn the home. J. S. Hill received telegrams and congratulations from Texas and points in California, and was indeed a proud old gentleman as he presided over affairs of the day as "Father" of all those present.

Some of the family members were unable to attend, and J. S. Hill regretted especially the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hill of this city, who are the proud new parents of a baby boy. The little lad, Herbert Lester Hill, is the sixth great-grandchild of Mr. Hill. Among other members of the family unable to be present were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Green of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. L. F. McElvany of El Centro.

A delectable refreshment course, carrying out the Halloween motif with its tulle-tied tapers, minis, and other details, was served late in the afternoon. Those present other than the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hill and children, Geraldine, Virginia, and Eleanor-Marie, and L. H. Hill, the honor guest, were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hill, and daughter, Viola Oliphant, B. Hill and Miss Viola Oliphant, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Hill and son, Winston, of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hill and son, Clifford, of San Dimas and Mrs. Moomaw of Whittier.

Friendship Night Was Given By Sycamore Rebekahs

With every Rebekah lodge in Orange county sending representatives, and many guests present from more distant jurisdictions, the celebration of "Friendship Night" by Sycamore Rebekah lodge was made a most enjoyable affair Saturday evening in the I. O. O. F. temple, where over 200 members and guests congregated for the pleasant affair.

Mrs. Ruth Zabel, noble grand, presided over the lodge session and was assisted by a capable committee in presenting the evening's entertainment, with Mrs. Hugh Wiley as entertainment chairman. Opening the program was a delightful little play, "Sauce for the Gossips," directed by Estelle Card Beeman, who was assisted in costuming and presenting the sketch by Mrs. Hugh Gerrard.

Young people of the Orange Avenue Christian church composed the cast, and included Phillip Gerrard as "Mrs. Taylor," Harriette Morris as "Mrs. Taylor," Corinne Peck as "Grandma," Dean Hyatt as "Robert," the son; Gladys Gross as "Elizabeth," the daughter; Helen Switzer as the housemaid, and Carl Bateman as "James Ward," the distinguished guest. The clever little play presented an excellent lesson in correct speech, language and deportment.

As the final program feature, Rebekah members presented an amusing "Photograph Gallery," with Harry Aaron and Mrs. T. R. Overton as the photographer and his wife. Groups appearing to have their pictures taken, included the orchestra composed of Mesdames Bessie Moore, Florence Crawford, Bessie McDonald, Hazel Ryan and Ruth Zabel; "Five Generations," with Mesdames Pauline Decker, May Curtis, Katherine Clarke, Hazel Ryan and Master Joseph Ryan Jr.; "Family Group," with Mrs. H. C. Wiley, George Stovall, Roger Dunning, Mrs. Ruth Zabel, Mrs. Nan Aaron, and three little children, Jeanne Zabel, Joseph Ryan Jr., and La Verne Stovall.

Mrs. George Stovall and H. W. Myrick were the "Bride and Groom," while Mrs. Edna Gowen and Roger Dunning were the "Sweethearts" appearing for their photographs, and Mrs. Dunning was the "Merry Widow."

As the final hospitality of the interesting evening, guests were asked to the flower-decked banquet room where Mrs. C. D. Henderson and her committee served fruit, jellies, whipped cream, cake and coffee. Arrangements were made for the next Sycamore meeting at which Past Noble Grands will be featured.

During a brief business meeting of the organization announcement will be given concerning the Y.W. discussion groups that are to meet on Sunday afternoons from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the city Y. rooms or at the home of Miss Dorothy Cartwright who is to lead the discussions.

Mrs. Helen B. Hill has been secured to speak on the Orient as she has just recently returned from that region. Miss Elizabeth Skiles will present several vocal solos.

A cabinet meeting is scheduled at 5 o'clock this evening before the regular meeting commences.

O. E. S. 1928 Matrons Were Entertained At Luncheon

Mrs. J. O. Pyle, a past deputy grand matron in O. E. S., was charming hostess Saturday, at a luncheon given in her ranch home near Smelter, for the 1928 members of the Past Matrons' association of Orange county.

Mr. Pyle joined with his wife in greeting the guests, and in presiding at the beautifully appointed table where a delicious turkey luncheon was served. Pink bouquets were used with trailing greenery to carry out the chosen color scheme, which was further evidenced in the pretty china of the luncheon service, and in frilly little nut cups.

It was regretted that some of the 1928 matrons were unable to be present, but those who shared the happy afternoon and the hospitality of the Pyle home included Mrs. James A. Tarpley and Mrs. W. R. Sylvester, past matrons of Hermosa and Santa Ana chapters, O. E. S.; Mrs. Juanita Snyder of Buena Park; Mrs. Rachel Robertson and Mrs. Margaret Conner of Fullerton; Mrs. Clara Handley of Orange; Mrs. Clara Holland of Yorba Linda, and Mrs. Anna Larson of Garden Grove.

Enjoyable Party Was Birthday Surprise To Mrs. McGee

When Mrs. Daisy McGee of this city, last night responded to suggestion that she and her young grandson, Russell Elliget, spend an informal evening with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Batt, 284 North Grand avenue, Orange, it was with the understanding that Mr. Batt had a small gift in readiness for the lad, Russell, which had been made for him at the Western Cordage company of which their host is superintendent.

But while hosts and guests were chatting, some friends began dropping in very informally, and presently it dawned upon Mrs. McGee that she was being made the center of a delightful little party, complimenting her birthday anniversary of October 13.

Card tables were soon placed, and as fortune decreed, the honor guest herself was the winner of the pretty prize selected by Mrs. Batt, for the holder of high score in bridge.

The evening closed with the serving of a dainty refreshment course to which a large birthday cake gave added interest. The cake in its icing and decorations, suggested the Halloween season, as did the pretty orange hued flowers and other appointments of the home.

Sharing the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Batt, were their honorees, Mrs. McGee, young Russell Elliget, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sisson of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. C. Otto and Mr. and Mrs. George Merriman of Orange, and Mrs. R. L. Ballard of this city.

Miss Esther Jean Davis led in community singing. Musical numbers by the Girls' Glee club, accompanied by Miss Allen Lair, followed, and included "Gypsy Love Song," "Come to the Fair," and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." Miss Davis directed the students.

The president, Dr. Margaret D. Baker, read a few lines from Mrs. Hugh Bradford's annual message to the association, and also read a poem, "Youth," by Jean McCormack.

Home work on the part of the child was the topic for discussion, and was the first of a series relating to the chosen theme for the year, "The Child and His Environment." Miss Vanche Etelle Plumb led the discussion, devoting part of her talk to recommending readable literature valuable to the mother of a school child. She stated that with the co-operation of parents and teachers, a number of confronting problems should be solved.

Lyle Mitchell, principal of the school, concluded the program with an explanation of the new curriculum this year. He introduced: shrd lum this year. He introduced: shrd lum this year. He introduced: shrd lum this year.

Co-hostesses Present Second Successful Bridge Luncheon

Duplicating the success and charm of their party of Thursday, Mrs. Edward M. Nealey, Mrs. Samuel M. Davis, Mrs. S. W. Stanley and Mrs. John E. Gowen on Saturday greeted an equally large group of guests in the delightful home of Mrs. Nealey on Glenn avenue, Tustin.

The function was the final one of the two delightful affairs planned by this quartet of interesting women, and was given the same colorful setting as its predecessor, by the use of quantities of unusually beautiful blossoms. Transvaal daisies, dahlias in every imaginable variety of color and form, tawny zinnias, and exquisite roses, all gave of their beauty and fragrance to heighten the charm of the home.

Luncheon tables were each centered with a particularly effective arrangement of smaller blossoms in soft rainbow colors, while the autumnal note was sounded in the deeper-hued nut cups. Serving of the dainty luncheon and wine was completed by a trio of charming girls, Miss Marian Stanley, Miss Josephine Roy and Mrs. Ray Aunger.

Mrs. Leonard G. Swales assisted the four hostesses in such pleasant duties as checking the arrival of guests, and the scores resulting from the afternoon of bridge. In these, Mrs. Tarver Montgomery was high, securing the handsome pewter sugar and cream set which duplicated that won on Thursday by Mrs. Walter N. Pines, to Dr. Mary E. Wright was presented a set of charming little covered ramekins, while a buffet set in Italian lace was presented Mrs. Arthur May, with third high score.

Mrs. Clarence Gustlin and Mrs. E. E. Keech had been awarded similar lovely gifts on the initial afternoon.

In addition to the Santa Ana and Tustin friends entertained by Mrs. Nealey, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Gowen and Mrs. Davis, were several out-of-town friends to share the pleasure of one or the other of the twin affairs. These included Mrs. F. I. Stowell, Mrs. M. Clement Dawes and Mrs. Alice Harris, Los Angeles; Mrs. E. J. Hatfield and Mrs. A. Marshall of Long Beach; Mrs. F. H. Fowler of San Fernando, and Mrs. Elmer Crawford of Laguna Beach.

Sharing the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Batt, were their honorees, Mrs. McGee, young Russell Elliget, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sisson of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. C. Otto and Mr. and Mrs. George Merriman of Orange, and Mrs. R. L. Ballard of this city.

Travel Motif Stressed At Unique Luncheon Given Saturday

An European luncheon Saturday noon in the home of Miss Gertrude Minor on West Nineteenth street, uniquely entertained a group of friends of Miss Lula Minter and Miss Minor.

Each of the six luncheon tables was centered with a setting suggestive of a country recently visited by these travelers. Camel trains, with each camel guarded by its blue head, a sweet-toned camel bell, an Egyptian scarab, a group of domestic animals intricately carved of wood by Oberammergau peasants and magically locked boxes evidenced the travel motif, as did the novel place cards typical of the old world.

The cleverly planned menu, served in continental style, was no less enlightening than the guests' use of their many pieces of flat silver and china. Each place had a generous slice of French bread to serve for the entire meal. From suspicious looking bottles refreshing drinks were poured and from grill trays the guests served themselves to their hors d'oeuvre. Concluding with the various cheeses and amber coffee the six course luncheon removed all dread of dining abroad.

Lovely souvenirs of their travels were placed about the home by Miss Minor and Miss Minter, for inspection following the luncheon hour. This gave their friends a dreamland experience as Mohammedan veils and colorful costumes, Holland bonnets and Egyptian scarves were donned, or beads and alabaster vases from tombs in the Valley of the Kings, exquisitely carved leather from Florence, or dainty lace and embroideries from Mediterranean villages were offered for their inspection.

The last moments of the afternoon were a rare treat as Mrs. Samuel W. Nau gave one of her vivid word pictures of a recent trip from Berlin to the North Cape, the "Land of the Midnight Sun." As the guests bade their hostesses good afternoon it was with the feeling they themselves had traveled from Jerusalem to Hammerfest and were neither foot sore nor weary.

Shiloh Circle and Comrades Share Birthday Party

A memorable occasion for Mrs. M. C. Jackson was Friday of last week when she was hostess in her home at 235 Palmyra street in Orange, entertaining Shiloh circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., and comrades in observance of her birthday anniversary. A pot-luck luncheon was served with a delectable birthday cake as a feature of the last course. By special request Mrs. Jackson was seated at the same table with the comrades, two other tables being spread.

A program and social time occupied the happy afternoon hours. George W. Hall gave the history of the flag in a most interesting manner and Mr. and Mrs. Marrows, Orange musicians, gave a number of war-time selections. Those present, other than Mrs. Jackson, were Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Francisco, George W. Hall, Mesdames Estelle Gray, Lula Hall, Kate Hendricks, Mellissa Zimmerman, Louise Potts, Sarah Alford, Adeline Palmer, Emma Wright, Elizabeth McLeod and Mattie Conkle, all of this city; Mr. and Mrs. J. The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Waffles and Irons

Let's talk about waffles and waffle irons today. Some time ago I published instructions for tempering new waffle irons and gave some of the reasons why waffle batters stick in spite of perfectly tempered irons; evidently my instructions were misinterpreted, judging from the letters I have had asking for more detailed instructions that would do away with such mistakes.

The first reason can be the under-heating of the waffle iron. The iron should literally smoke before the batter is poured for the first waffle, but with the iron at the right temperature failure can still be due to either of the two following reasons:

The second reason: Too much sugar must not be used in mixing waffle batter. It is the cause of waffles sticking to the iron when all else is as it should be. A teaspoon of sugar in a pint of batter is quite enough. Don't forget that syrup trims the waffles and sweetening isn't needed in the batter.

The last reason is found in a batter not sufficiently rich. A pint of batter should have at least six tablespoonsful of melted shortening added after the egg yolks, milk, flour, baking powder, sugar and salt have been mixed. The stiffly beaten whites are thoroughly whipped in last and the batter must be thin enough to run off the tip of a spoon readily.

A reader asked me if I knew of anyway to keep waffle batter fresh enough to bake the following day. If I did, I would have Ponce de Leon and all the rest of the miracle-making boys backed off the map. However, don't throw out the batter, put it in the ice box and use it as the base for hot cakes, adding some fresh material, and of course, more baking powder.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Frozen Pumpkin Pie

11-2 cups pumpkin puree
1 cup powdered sugar
2 eggs, white separated
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 scant teaspoon ginger
Pinch of salt
1 cup whipping cream
Baked pastry shell

This idea for making pumpkin pie may sound new to you, but it is as old as the hills, really, and is still well known in parts of the south.

Of course you will use the convenient canned pumpkin for this pie. Open and measure out 11-2 cups and press it through a sieve to make very smooth. To it add the salt, spices and two egg yolks. Whip to mix well, cook in a double boiler to slightly thicken with the egg yolks, cool, then add the egg whites whipped very dry before mixing with the sifted powdered sugar. Fold through the pumpkin mixture, then fold in the cup of cream, whipped stiff, and put into the refrigerator freezing compartment, or pack in ice and salt for four hours.

When the mixture is frozen in the refrigerator stir it a few times while still in the mush stage; this, to prevent the moisture from settling on the bottom of the pan. Have a light crisp pastry shell baked and chilled, have one or two egg whites beaten stiff, sweetened and flavored to taste. Just before the pie is served put the frozen filling into the pie shell, spread meringue on top and slip under the broiler for a minute to brown the top. Not more than 10 minutes must elapse between preparation and serving. It may seem a lot of bother to go to, but for feast days and state occasions it is a sum'shus dessert!

Cut into sixths, a portion of this delectable pie has calories totaling 450, and of course, they are the kind which make both energy and fat, as most good things do.

I have an idea outlined in this week's leaflet which is workable. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to receive this interesting leaflet.

LAST OF THE LONE WOLF WITH BERT LYTELL
PATSY RUTH MILLER

"UP THE RIVER" AT BROADWAY HOUSE

Be sure your vest buttons are sewed on tightly before you go to the Fox Broadway theater this week. This precaution is necessary, during the run of "Up the River," opening today, according to Manager Francis Glab of the local film house, because of the extreme hilarity of this Fox Movietone laugh-riot.

Centering around the uproarious activities of two jail breaking Cupids who do their best to carry on a romance between two youthful inmates, the story is unique in film annals. With one of the largest casts ever assembled for a comedy production, the direction of

John Ford and the original scenario by Maurine Watkins, the author of "Chicago," "Up the River" has been breaking all records elsewhere and is expected to attract unusual crowds to its local showings.

Spencer Tracy and Warren Hymer have the roles of the jail-busting Cupids, with Claire Luce and Humphrey Bogart as the lovers in a notable supporting cast that includes William Collier sr., Joan Lawes, Sharon Lynn, George MacFarlane, Gaylord Pendleton, "Black and Blue," Noel Francis, Althea Henly, the Keating Sisters, Morgan Wallace, Louise Mackintosh, Edythe Chapman, Pat Somerset, Johnnie Walker, Dick Keene, Goodee Montgomery, Robert O'Connor and many other celebrities.

In order to transmute good intention into deeds one must kindle the fires of enthusiasm and keep adding the fuel of effort.

BERT LYTELL SHOWS AT WALKER STATE

"Last of the Lone Wolf," by its title, heralds the finale to that series of amazing action dramas with the suave but dynamic Bert Lytell that Columbia has given to the screen world. Unless, of course, the Lone Wolf should imitate Sherlock Holmes and be reborn brilliantly. Certainly, the interest of some millions of eager Lytell fans can not be disregarded.

Be that as it may, "Last of the Lone Wolf," now showing at Walker's State theater is the peak of the Lone Wolf's exploits in the realm of intense crook drama. A regal setting and a royal plot—the eternal triangle of a king, a queen, an admirer—and a precious ring—are further calculated to whet the screen appetite.

Patsy Ruth Miller, Otto Matsson and Lucian Prival are others of the cast which was directed by the distinguished Richard Boleslavsky.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY MAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The fountain was a queer affair. A smaller tower standing in the air, with water running from it in a tiny, steady flow. Instead of drinking from a cup each Tiny simply walked right up and let it trickle in his mouth. Then Clowny shouted, "Oh!"

"That water's cold as it can be. It seems it almost freezes me," Then Scouty laughed and said, "Why do you drink more than your share? I know it's good, but please give us a chance, or we will start a fuss." "Don't worry," answered Clowny, "You will all be treated fair."

The Travel Man soon shouted, "Boys, your argument makes too much noise. I think we've had enough to drink. Let's be upon our way." And so the Tinymites said, "good-bye." Please come again to visit. I am sorry you can't stay. They walked along a mile or more. Said one, "What are we walking for? Why don't we hop a ride upon a wagon passing by?" "Well, son, I think that we will take a hike o'er to a mirror lake," replied the friendly Travel Man. "We'll make it, if we try."

"This walking's very good for you and quite the proper thing to do. I fear you have a lazy streak. Come on, now, show some pep!" And, as he walked with snappy spring, no Tiny said another thing. They simply followed right behind and kept in perfect step.

The little lake was shortly found and as the Tinymites gathered 'round the shore they gazed down in it and wee Copy cried, "Some class! I see myself! Gee, I look queer. I'm glad that we all come down here. The lake's so calm it seems like it is just a looking glass."

(The Tinymites leave Geneva in the next story.)

RULES

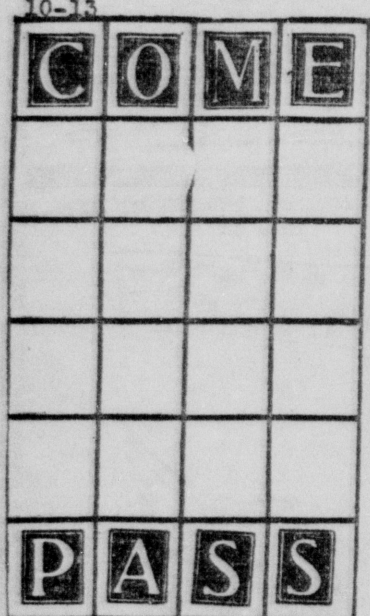

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

150 ATTRACTED TO DINNER FOR ANAHEIM GROUP

ANAHEIM, Oct. 13.—Closing a week of rally program at the White Temple Methodist church, 150 men of the church and friends assembled at the dining hall Friday evening. The dinner meeting was presided over by the Rev. Ralph W. Lee, pastor of the church, who introduced the guests. A delegation from the Men's Bible class at Long Beach was present, including Charles Bentley, teacher of the class.

The dinner program was very informal and consisted of community singing led by Percy W. Olds, with Paul Demaree at the piano and music by Virgil and Loren Hemphill, Long Beach, on the xylophone and piano.

Immediately following dinner the men repaired to the new building recently built for the use of the men's class where a program, in charge of N. R. Phillips, was presented as a dedicatory and rally.

Remarks were made by the Rev. Mr. Lee in which he predicted that the new building would aid materially in creating new life in the men's activities of the church. Jerry Nesmith sang two solos, "The Lamp of Life" and "Cheer Up," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Nesmith, and Stewart Berger sang "What the Boy Said" and "Rejected," after which Mr. Manshardt, teacher of the Men's Bible class, in a short talk, told of the aims of the class, naming them as the study of the Bible, better fellowship among men and helpfulness to the church and community. He has set the goal for membership at 125.

Following songs by Katherine and Ellen Collins, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ralph W. Lee, singing "The Mill" and "Spinning Song," and two readings, "The Church Rummage Sale" and "King Solomon and David," by Mrs. Fay Kern Schulz of the high school faculty, and xylophone and piano numbers by the Hemphill brothers, Mr. Bentley gave the main talk of the evening, stressing the importance of a Harbor Bible class as a means of reaching men not connected with any church, pointing out the Long Beach community class with an average attendance of 1100. Bill Payne, in a short talk, told of the enthusiasm and work necessary to put over such an undertaking.

After the robbery the bandit walked east on First street and disappeared in the darkness. Mullins waited for a minute and then notified the police.

Officers were unable to locate the bandit, who was described as being about 30 years old and six feet in height.

ROAD WIDENING ADVOCATED BY CITY ENGINEER

FULLERTON, Oct. 13.—Widening of West Commonwealth avenue was recommended in a report made public today by C. M. Thorpe, city engineer, who presented figures showing that the portion of the highway leading out of the city could be improved at a reasonable cost and would relieve the increased traffic that is expected when the extension of the street to Manchester boulevard in Buena Park, which is now under consideration, will provide the shortest route to Los Angeles.

A temporary improvement of the street could be made with oil and rock and bituminous shoulders, Thorpe pointed out, in referring to other improvements which have been made in the same manner and at small cost.

Savings in the engineering department during the past year in spite of the increased activities of that department was one of the features of the report. Total cost of work done under the engineering and street departments for the year amounted to $50,354.88, the report showed.

One of the principal problems before the city at the present time is that of water supply, according to Thorpe, who declared that the most valuable source is the Colorado river.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Oct. 13.—There will be a ball game at the school house Thursday afternoon, when the seventh and eighth grade girls and boys meet the seventh and eighth grade girls and boys from Olive. There are 10 games scheduled for the indoor season.

Bruce Stockton, of Santa Ana, left Saturday morning with a party of men on a business trip to Tracy and vicinity.

Quite a number of mothers attended the mothers' meeting held at the Irvine school house Friday afternoon to discuss plans for the coming year. A short program was given by the boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades, with "Perseverance" as the theme for the various readings and poems.

The program was as follows: Perseverance, or the will to win, Lorraine Cox; story of the county health department, Dr. Russell, with Miss Birch assisting, will be at the school house Thursday, October 16, and one week later, Thursday, October 23, to examine the pupils of the second and the fifth grades. All mothers are asked to co-operate in this work by signing the cards being mailed to them who have children in these two grades. The examinations are free and all other children whose mothers wish them to have an examination, may do so.

It was decided at the meeting that there would be no Halloween party at the school as in former years, because of the busy season. These mothers' meetings will be held the first Wednesday of every month, the next to be Wednesday, November 5, when the mothers of the pupils of Miss Mathews's first grade will help her put on the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Meade Shear, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. Keaster were on the hostess committee in charge of the pot luck supper which preceded the meeting of the Buena Park chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Monday evening.

Mrs. Ralph Cummins, worthy matron of the local chapter, will attend the grand chapter in Oakland and there will be no further meetings here until November. Election of officers will be held on the first meeting in November.

Many of the local bean raisers notice that their beans are smaller this season than ever before and they lay the blame to the poor start which the beans made at planting time when rains interfered with the seed just planted.

Mr. Ingham has been a patient at a Los Angeles hospital since July 4, at which time he fell 15 feet from a fruit tree at the home of a friend where he was picking some fruit.

Mr. Ingham's back was broken. Pneumonia followed the injury, making a wait of three weeks necessary before the operation on his back could be performed, and owing to this delay his recovery is very uncertain. Mrs. Ingham, who for a number of years has been a semi-invalid, has been quite ill a part of the time since her husband's accident, and is being cared for by an aunt who is here. Mr. Ingham has been a postal employee in Los Angeles since going to that city from here.

FACULTY RECITAL FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

ANAHEIM, Oct. 13.—A program which is attracting a great deal of interest in Orange county is the faculty recital of the Orange County School of Fine Arts to be given in the auditorium of the Anaheim union high school next Friday evening. Beginning at 8 o'clock, the following program will be presented:

Cello, "Aubade," Louis Delune, and "Allegro Appassionata," Saint-Saens, by Marcia Levings; dance, "Cielo de Andaluz," Gaston Norma Gould, accompanied by Vera Gay. Franz Darnas will play "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6," by Liszt. A playlet in the Revolutionary times, "The Kisses of Marjorie," Booth Tarkington, will be presented by Daphne Goss Hellerman. Tudor Williams, voice instructor, will sing "Win a Test," the Tom Cat, Gulesian and "Sweetie and Ripevate" invocations from Robert Le Diable, by Meyerbeer. Dance, "The Waterfall," Berge, by Norma Gould, and violin, selected, by Sylvain Noack.

Officers of the organization whose terms were completed are Miss Alice Beardsley and Heli G. Rider as first and second vice presidents and Mrs. Elizabeth W. Brown as secretary-treasurer.

Chalde D. Bronner, host of the club, took members through his cactus garden. Meeting dates were changed from the first Friday to the fourth Friday of each month in order not to conflict with the monthly membership meetings of the Parent-Teacher association.

Miss Harriet Boulanger led a discussion on garden problems. Mrs. Ella H. Goodrich, recently returned from Seattle, where she spent the summer, told of gardens in Washington. The club now numbers 170 members. It was reported.

300 AT BAPTIST MEET IN LA HABRA

Three hundred young people were present at the quarterly meeting of the Baptist Young People's association at the La Habra Baptist church October 10.

EVENING SALUTATION

"The young man who applies himself to thinking, will, by and by, be amazed to find how much there is to think about."

—OTTO H. KAHN.

THE LEADERS WILL TAKE CARE OF IT

The American Legion has come in for a great deal of criticism for the alleged doings in connection with its convention at Boston. The American Federation of Labor, which had its headquarters in the same hotel, and now the Harvard daily paper, known as the "Harvard Crimson," comes out with very severe strictures on the affair.

It is rather remarkable that the situation reached the point where even in Boston there were objections made, for Boston is, as far as the liquor question is concerned, one of the liberal cities of our country. We believe if the facts could be known, those who were really responsible for the conduct of the convention itself, would be found to be utterly opposed to anything of this character, for it not only injures the reputation of the great organization which was holding the convention, but is contrary to its great principles of upholding the Constitution and the law.

The real dependable leaders of any organization know that it cannot face one way by its lips and declarations, and another way by its actions and keep itself on equilibrium as a force and sustain the regard and respect of men. We believe the great body of members of the organization condemn such actions as strongly as anyone can, and undoubtedly they will see to it in the future that elements will not take advantage of the high regard in which the American Legion is held to cast any reflections upon the organization.

Undoubtedly as Past National Commander Bodenheimer says, some take advantage of the American Legion name who may not be members of it, to commit these depredations on such occasions, and so bring the Legion in disrepute. But this by proper heroic and immediate action by the Legion, as a whole, on such occasions, could soon stop it, for all the officers need to know is that these men are attempting to injure the American Legion and they would be summarily dealt with.

In other words, let the commander of the American Legion in any city request the city officials to bring all people up with a swift turn, who are violating the law, whether they wear American Legion badges or uniforms or not, and he will please the organization, and we do not believe that they need concern themselves over any one being able to raise rough-house and blame it onto the Legion thereafter.

A CHERISHED HERO

Again we celebrate the anniversary of the day in 1492 when Columbus is credited with having discovered us. Christopher Columbus is always associated in the mind with the names of Washington, Patrick Henry, Winthrop, Miles Standish and the other heroes of the early days. He is placed on a pedestal, the intrepid explorer, willing to strike out for a faith and demonstrate to the world the truth of the rotundity and the movements of the earth. And now we are losing our patience over having the underpinning of our faith in Columbus kicked out from under us. They claim to be finding evidences that he wasn't just what he pretended to be,—that he was more of a freebooter, if not a pirate, etc., etc. Well, we are not going to break down our ideal. We have seen him in our imagination on the Santa Maria appeal to the discouraged and fear-full sailors to continue on, and we prefer to believe in him just as we always have.

It is probable that many of our heroes are very much mythical, for we observe that it is difficult now to learn the facts concerning contemporary public men, who are seeking public office, for example. With all of the searchlight turned on to every cavity and crevice, the truth is constantly in dispute. But we would suggest to these breakers of idols that they use their hammers upon the people of today; that they turn their searchlights and investigations upon the situation of the moment, where we might change it and help ourselves, rather than to dig into the archives of the musty past to dynamite the stories we have cherished, that are as interesting to us as any stories of Arabian Nights, and we want to keep them whether they are true or not.

So we celebrate and honor Columbus today. This great nation, peopled by a few hundred thousand savages when Columbus reached the shore of the Western continent, now in the short period of a little over four centuries is in most every respect recognized as the leading nation of the earth.

FLOGGING MIGHT BE EFFECTIVE

George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement commission, suggests that there may be great advantages in the flogging of criminals for certain crimes. He suggests that it be used in the war against banditry and racketeering.

It undoubtedly would make some of this braggadocio, egotistical crowd ashamed, and humiliation would be a great punishment for that type of mind. We imagine, however, that with the present situation in Chicago, unless there is a machine devised to do the flogging, that for the actual work it would be difficult to find a man who would be willing to administer the penalty. In other sections, however, there would not be found that difficulty, but neither would they need it so greatly.

Seriously, we doubt if corporal punishment in any case will greatly deter crime.

COMMUNITY CHEST AIDING MANY A CONCRETE CASE

A few days ago a case of need was presented on behalf of a woman of Santa Ana who, thanks to the responses which were received, is on her way to the East to receive treatment for a broken back. The manner in which the people responded to this appeal indicates the sympathetic spirit of the people of Santa Ana, and clearly proves that you can depend upon their generosity whenever it is needed, providing the concrete case is presented so that the people thoroughly understand exactly where their money is going, and what it is going for. The visualization of need stirs the emotions, and the emotions affect the will to act.

There are many people who, because of one condition or another, need aid in Santa Ana, and many of them are receiving it through the fine offices of the Community Chest, but because the specific cases are not presented in the same manner, the appeal does not tug at the heart strings with the same force.

We would urge, however, the people to constantly bear in mind that while it is rarely that a case is so striking as the one to which we have alluded, yet the needs are great and the help that is furnished is done in a manner to not only preserve self-respect, but done also with the object of making it possible for the individual or family to work out their own salvation as a permanent proposition.

To be "Johnny on the spot" is a virtue, but in Chicago it is suicide.

LEARNING ABOUT WOMEN

Randolph Churchill, son of the former English Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill, is here to lecture. He says he is going to lecture on "Women," and he is here to learn. Well, we promise him if he lectures on "Women" as a subject, he will learn. And how!

We should rather enjoy listening to the lecture when he returns after learning from this side of the Big Pond.

Baseball May Have to Adopt Handicap System

—San Francisco Chronicle

Now that the World Series is over we can look at it more dispassionately. For the benefit of the proverbial visitor from Mars, or even from London or the Republic of Andorra, we hasten to explain that the World Series is the competition for our national baseball championship. If the said proverbial visitor should feel a little proud about his home baseball talent we would like to see his team stack up against the Athletics. He would probably be convinced that the World Series is right and that Mr. McGillicuddy's young men are distinctly the baseball champions of the universe.

Not that we are gloating over the Cardinals. We still think that Chick Hafey, Taylor Douthitt and those fellows are a pretty good baseball team. We say this, although Connie Mack is one of our Sporting Green's most versatile cub reporters, and Will Rogers right on our first page touted the Athletics to win before the series started.

The feeling of certain Athletic superiority expressed by Mr. Rogers grew so general with the Athletics' victories in the first two games that two Cardinal victories were needed to revive interest outside of St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Connie Mack was so sure of the final result that he put no seats on sale for a possible seventh game. He seems to have been justified. The American league has now walked off with sixteen of the last nineteen World Series games. It is not to be wondered at if the public at large exhibits a little cooling of interest toward so one-sided a sporting competition.

But we don't know what can be done about it. For all his mellowed kindness Connie Mack evidently doesn't intend to do anything.

Respect For Law Is Nation's Hope

—Pasadena Star-News

Respect for law, in this land of the free, is the one basic, vital thing that will keep this land of the free. President Hoover, in his public addresses, is stressing the vital importance of respect for law and obedience to the law. He stressed this in his address to the American Legion, as a compliment and a tribute to that great organization of veterans—an organization which he recognizes as being a tremendous influence in behalf of enforcement of law and respect for law.

President Hoover made the observation, in his address to the veterans, in Boston, that "we need the teaching that the foundation of government is respect for law." These are not idle words. They are words of profound wisdom and of gospel truth. Those Americans who are otherwise good citizens who make light of disobedience to or disrespect for law, are placing themselves and are helping to place their countrymen on the crater of a volcano that ere long may become destructively active. It is futile for legislatures to enact laws, if the laws are not respected and obeyed. And without laws, based upon justice and equity, mankind would revert to potential savagery. Any thoughtful person who ponders a few moments what the plight of this country and this people would be if all laws became inoperative and ineffective by general disrespect for and disobedience to law, is convinced, in his own mind and heart, that the salvation and future welfare of this country lie in enforcement of law and wholesale respect for law on the part of the masses of the people.

Cows and Bald Heads

—Oakland Tribune

Many have been the reports concerning the intentions of Marion Talley, Missouri girl who rode into opera on the well wishes and financial support of the folks at home, made a name for herself, and returned to a farm where she said she could be happier.

It has been hinted the drought of the past summer convinced the young farmer that opportunities of the voice were superior to those of the plow. Stories have said she is about to return to the concert and operatic stage.

Yet, here is some evidence, direct from the Ozark News-Leader, close by the farm of Marion Talley, personal, pointed and seemingly authentic. "Miss Marion Talley has the crops all in under barn roof now, so she took a little trip to New York. She denied reports that she was ever again to appear on the concert stage or in the opera. This once famous singer is more interested in cows, chickens, hogs and crops than in bald heads and bare shoulders in front rows of theater audiences. She isn't even going to get married. She reserves the right, however, to sing and study music at her Kansas farm home."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE SAME OLD DEFENSE

Whenever a greedy political crowd
Collects every office in sight,
And fancies the boys in the jobs are endowed
With the right to get rich overnight,
A popular protest is bound to arise;
There is talk about justice and law
And from various quarters come murmurs and cries
That the gang is a trifle too raw.
Whereon they cry out: "What a shame and a pity
To injure the glorious name of our city!"

No doubt Captain Kidd, when he ravaged the main
In the search after vessels to loot,
Was wroth, when the nations demurred, to maintain
That he followed a noble pursuit.
He probably said, when they caught him at last
And subjected his crew to a quiz,
That the manner in which he his spoils had amassed
Was nobody's business but his.
And declared that the raising of such a commotion
Was casting a slur on the name of the ocean.

The old robber barons, who ravaged and slew
In the days when few laws were in force,
Were averse, I suppose, to a hullabaloo
That attended their pillaging course.
The peasants who wailed at the loss of their gold
And objected to rapine and riot
By bands of high-handed assassins, were told That the best thing to do was keep quiet.
The barons believed that talk of rascality
Would smudge the name of the fair principality.

BIG BUSINESS

And now seats on the bench seem to have fallen into the hands of the speculators.

A PRETTY GOOD GUESS

The politicians of New York seem to have decided that the band wagon will carry them farther than the water wagon did.

POSSIBLE COMPLICATION

Maybe Canada and Scotland would regard a repeal of the Volstead law by this country as an unfriendly act.

Is it Possible to Save Too Much?

Last week we mentioned the fact that this country is wasting its substance in riotous saving. It is saving money that ought to be used to employ workers and produce more wealth.

Thomas F. Wallace, President of a savings bank in Minneapolis, takes sharp issue with us. He holds firmly to the views which bankers have always held. No doubt he represents bankers in general. He is, in fact, President of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, made up of six hundred banks.

Mr. Wallace says that when people save money, it is not withdrawn from industry. It goes into banks, where borrowers may get it, and put it back into circulation.

What a strange argument for a banker to make, at the very time when bankers are complaining that they cannot find enough responsible borrowers! At the very time, moreover, when their low interest rates daily announce that fact!

Savings which are deposited in banks do no good to business, merely because somebody may borrow them, at times when nobody does borrow them.

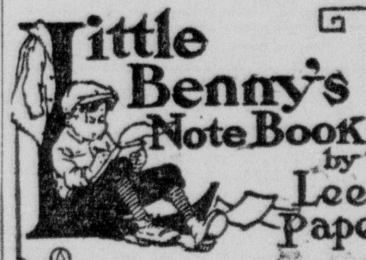

Mr. Wallace says that money which is saved is not lost. It does not go out of circulation.

Here is another incredible argument. How can bankers cling to that old error of the economists, when the joint operations of banks and depositors are destroying money every day? Every time any one uses his savings to pay off a bank loan of a million dollars, a million dollars is wiped out of existence.

In this way, during the past twelve months, savings have actually reduced the volume of currency and credit in circulation by hundreds of millions of dollars. The daily reports of the United States Treasury Department tell the story in language so plain that any one can read it.

Inevitably, trade and employment have fallen off, too. The United States has been saving more than any nation can save to any advantage.

COLDS

No matter how poor you are you have just as good a chance to catch a cold as your richest relation.

Nothing makes you feel hummer than a cold, but even if you have the faintest cold you ever had, you don't get hardly any sympathy, on account of people always seeming funny to other people when they sneeze even if there's nothing funny about them generally.

Some people bleeve a sneeze is a sure sine you are going to get a cold, and if you actually get one they feel grate and say, See, what did I tell you? if you don't actually get one they don't feel any worse than usual.

Colds are full of germs, so if you have a cold and haff to sneeze in public you never awt to aim it at any of your friends.

Waiting for a sneeze that never comes is a grate disappointment if its your own sneeze and a grate relief if its somebody elses sneeze thats tawking to you with their face rite up to yours.

People with hay fever look as if they felt hummer than anybody elts in the world, especially if they have forgotten their hankerchief.

Even the bestwilt looking girl looks funny if she has a red nose on account of a cold, and a lot of white powder on it makes her look still funnier.

No matter how much you hope, a cold genrally lasts at least 3 days.

Thoughts On Modern Life

NINE POLITICAL GHOSTS

As I study the current trends in political America, I find nine fears hovering over my study like ghosts. I want to list these nine fears today, although I have here and there through the last five years dealt with all of them separately in these essays.

(1) The fear that a consistently intelligent readjustment of the tools of government to the changing tasks of government will be blocked by a political Bourbonism that cannot see the difference between social discontent with a government that has blundered, and scientific discontent that seeks to keep government from blundering.

(2) The fear that the realism of science and the opportunism of politics will never get along well together, with the result that we may miss the full contributions of both science and democracy.

(3) The fear that the largeness of American territory will defeat the forces of national unity and reduce us to a medley of warring regionalisms.

(4) The fear that our old political battle, designed to serve an agricultural age and stubbornly resisting change, will prove inadequate for the administration of the interests of our new social order, created by an industrial age.

(5) The fear that our localized governments, designed to serve a settled people whose families and fortunes were, in the main, concentrated in definite political areas, will prove incapable of administering the increasingly delocalized interests of an age like this, when men and their interests rarely stay put in one city, one state, or one nation.

(6) The fear that the majority will increasingly abuse its use of majority rule to seal the minority sources of fresh ideas and to fasten fantastic legislation upon us.

(7) The fear that the inevitable inner dissimilarity of our permanent political parties will keep our politics barren of reality and under the dual curse of conformity and compromise.

(8) The fear that we will fearfully boycott our ablest and most fearless independent men from political leadership and fall victim to an increasingly mediocrity of leadership.

(9) The fear that, after denuding our lower social levels of their ablest men by giving them opportunities on our upper social levels, we will tolerate conditions that will bring these denuded classes into revolt and throw the control of government into the hands of the social rejects whom democratic opportunity has left behind because they were incapable of taking advantage of it.

I think the ghosts of these nine fears can be forever laid, but to lay them more than half of us, as now, will have to become politically active, and we will have to comb the country for the strongest possible leaders.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"ME FIRST"

The lines were forming in the school yard. Soon the bell would ring and the children would march to their classrooms. There was trouble at the head of the Baby Class line.

"Get out of here!"
"I will not. I got here first."
"You can't be first. I'm first."
"Who said so? I got here first!"
—Stop pushing me or I'll slap you."

The battle raged and a smart little miss took advantage of the situation to slip into first place and tie a line of friends behind her.

"Now look here, children. This isn't fair. You let Millie have her place. She wants to be first. I'm Millie's mother. You let her be first."

"Don't you do it. Don't you do it. Hold on," shrielled the allied group and the usually quiet yard rang with the shouts of the fray.

"What's all this?" said Miss Maria, sharply. "My class fall in line, smallest girl first."

"But Miss Maria, Millie wants to be first, I'm her mother and I've come to school on purpose to see that she gets her place."

"Is Millie the smallest girl. Let's see. No, Mary Jane Briggs is the smallest. Mary Jane, lead the line," and Mary Jane did.

It is not wisest to teach children that being first is of highest importance. How one gets to be first is far more important. But what is of chief importance to the children is the quality of character that is fostered in the struggle for the place.

No child can be perfect all the time. It is fine if he leads the class occasionally, more if impossible without calling up qualities that are better allowed to slumber. Jealousy and competition breeds jealousy, is an ugly quality. It kills love. It embitters the soul of the child who labors under its evil spell, it kills joy. Better stay at the foot of the class than suffer jealousy.

Try to teach children to play and work without an anxious brooding eye on their mates. Teach them the joy of a good fight, a hard struggle, the effort to do one's best. To do that it is necessary that a child know success. Make that possible enough of the time so that he will not feel inferior to his companions, but do not press him to win always. Teach him that this is not possible with honor, and honor comes first.

Teach him to cheer a good play always. When his rival makes a good shot, gets a high mark, succeeds in taking the honors, let him cheer for the good work, for the skill, for the other fellows joy. All of us share whatever of joy or failure our fellows meet. It is better to do so cheerfully.

And never never allow anybody to tease a child so as to call out his jealousy. Teach him that he counts as he is. He is good, or better, or best, in himself. Jealousy dwarfs the soul of its victim and renders him helpless. Put love in its place and the soul will expand.

THE WHITE HOUSE

On October 13, 1792, the cornerstone of the White House, official residence of the president of the United States, in Washington, was laid.

The mansion was first occupied by President and Mrs. Adams in 1800. The first mistress has put on record the amount of discomfort she experienced during the single winter of her stay in Washington. Congress had appropriated $25,000 for furnishing the White House, but Mrs. Adams, nevertheless, had lots to complain about. No system of bells was provided; there was neither fire wood nor persons to cut it in the surrounding forest, and as the fireplaces were without grates, it was impossible to use coal.

Notwithstanding all this, Mrs. Adams wrote, "It is a beautiful spot, capable of every improvement, and I view it the more I am delighted with it."

The building was burned by the British in 1814 and rebuilt in 1818. In 1903 the pressure of space was relieved by the erection of executive offices in the grounds connected with the main building. The building today is a two-story white freestone edifice. It contains the private apartments of the president on the second floor and the reception rooms on the first floor. Among the latter are the famous East Room, used for public receptions, and the Blue Room, used for diplomatic and social functions.
